

ROTC . . .

"I see continually expanding roles said Chriscimagna, "but it will take a fairly critical crisis" before women are drafted, he added.

Women were first included in UNL's ROTC program in the 1969 Air Force division, said Chriscimagna, and were allowed in the remaining divisions in 1972.

In both the Army and Air Force divisions, general enrollment has increased over the past five years. But women's enrollment has remained at a fairly steady level, according to both professors.

Twelve women are currently registered in the Air Force division out of 120, and nine women are enrolled in the Army division out of 99.

COLE QUILTS

Natalie Cole is a cigarette smoker. She's going to call it quits during the Great American Smokeout. Join her on November 20. Because quitting is easier when you do it with a friend.

Does the eruption of Mt. St. Helens and the increased seismic and volcanic activity around the world signal the beginning of catastrophic Earth Changes?

SPEAKERS

Jeffrey Goodman, Ph.D., of Tucson, Arizona, is Director of Archaeological Research Associates, Inc., and the author of Psychic Archaeology, We Are the Earthquake Generation, and the soon-to-be released American Genesis. Goodman is currently conducting excavation work in Arizona which is pushing back the dates for the origins of man in America to over 100,000 years ago. He is also a frequent university lecturer and radio/television interviewee on the topics of archaeology, geology, and parapsychology.

John W. White, Hon. D., of Cheshire, Connecticut, has written over 200 articles appearing in several nationally known magazines, on the fields of science, parascience and consciousness research. He is also the editor of eight anthologies on psychic exploration, as well as the author of several books, including the present best-seller Pole Shift! White has traveled extensively in the U.S. and Canada, as a noted lecturer and workshop leader on the subject of earth changes, past and future.

David D. Zink, Ph.D., of Virginia Beach, Virginia, is a respected prehistorian, lecturer, explorer, and film consultant, who has led several expeditions to investigate the mysterious sunken ruins in the Bahamas, especially the site called the "Bimini Road". His discoveries there, plus expeditions to other megalithic sites around the world, are described in his books The Stones of Atlantis, and The Ancient Stones Speak. Zink is presently a staff member of the International Society for the Investigation of Ancient Civilizations, and co-founder and Director of the Institute for Planetary Studies.

Katherine K. Haydock, M.A., of Penn Valley, California, is the A.U.R.A. National/International Director of Unity, and coordinator of the "Meditations for Humanity and Planet Earth" program. She is the founder of Truth Research

Foundation, a published author, has worked in all phases of communications with leading U.S. corporations and UCLA, and has assisted in developing numerous educational programs and sociopsychological research projects.

Joe R. Jochmans, Lit.D., of Lincoln, Nebraska, is the Director of Research for A.U.R.A. He is the author of the soon-to-be published Rolling Thunder: The Coming Earth Changes, and is the writer and coordinator of the "Jalandris Research" series. For the past two decades, Jochmans has been actively studying and lecturing nationally on such subjects as ancient technologies, out-of-place artifacts in geologic strata, the lost Hall of Records in Egypt, and pyramid energy. He is presently engaged in an intensive research into prehistoric world power centers and megalithic sites and is editor of the Earth Energy newsletter.
