Volleyball coach says competitors not key concern

By Pat Beecham

Husker volleyball Head Coach Terry Pettit isn't showing a lot of concern about the competition Nebraska will face in its regional tournament.

"We have to do a good job," Pettit said. "Our concern is not with our teams, we're concerned with our own performance."

Nebraska will begin regional play Thursday at Springfield, Mo. The tournament ends Saturday with the champion advanced to national competition.

Two teams, beside Nebraska, expected to be in contention for the Regional title are Southwest Missouri State and the University of Minnesota.

Nebraska played both teams three times during the year. The Huskers are 2-1 against SWMS and 1-2 against Minnesota. Pettit said the Huskers' performance against the two teams will matter much in regional competition.

"I don't think anyone has a psychological advantage. The psychological advantage will be the team that feels good about their own team."

"There are three strong teams in the region. SWMS was first in the regionals last year and Minnesota finished second in the Big Ten this year. But that doesn't mean another team couldn't come in there and upset someone."

"The team that goes down there and plays the best ball will win," Pettit said. "Mental toughness, fatigue and stress will probably play as big role as talent."

Pettit said the Nebraska team in the regionals will not be the same team of five weeks ago.

"The difference from the Nebraska team of five weeks ago and now is that everyone is playing well and more mentally tough."

"It is not just one or two individuals that are playing better and have more mental toughness, but everyone down to the eleventh and twelfth players has improved."

The team will go into the tournament with everyone healthy, Pettit said. Teams in the tournament will play one match on Thursday and the winners play two on Friday. How many matches a team plays on Saturday will depend on whether they stay in the winner's bracket.

Nebraska will open up with Iowa at 4:30 on Thursday. The winner of that match will advance to the semifinals to play the winner of the Minnesota-Kansas match.

Other teams competing are St. Louis, Creighton and Iowa State.

Soccer club fourth

The UNL soccer club placed fourth in the Kansas State Invitational over the weekend. The Huskers went through the tournament with a 2-3 record.

"We didn't play to our potential," President Phil Streyev said. "We have a better team than we showed them."

Crew places second

The UNL men's and women's crew teams both placed second in the Midwest Wichtennial this week. Wichita State hosted the event.

The men entered a novice lightweight and heavyweight and a varsity eight. The women entered a novice four and eight and a varsity eight.

Women's team member Kris Morehead said that she felt good about the finish, although she had hopes to finish first.

Womens' basketball

The women's basketball game against Kansas Friday was incorrectly listed as a 7:30 game in Tuesday's Daily Nebraskan. Tip-off for the season opener will be at 7 p.m. in the Bob Devaney Sports Center.
