Hartung to miss invitational due to ankle injury

By Kim Hachiya

Nebraska gymnast Jim Hartung, who was scheduled to miss Saturday's dual with Iowa State because of a conflicting invitational meet in Los Angeles, will probably miss that meet too because of an injury.

Hartung severely sprained his left ankle in practice last Friday, and he will probably sit out the Southern California Acrobatics and Tumbling Society's invitational.

Jim Howard, assistant UNL gymnastics coach, said Hartung was injured landing a double back somersault at the end of a floor exercise routine in practice and overflexed the ankle.

Hartung said he doubts the injury will hamper his preparation for the NCAA national meet in April, but he said it will put him at least one week behind in training.

Head Coach Francis Howard said he was optimistic about the speed of Hartung's recovery.

"I feel bad because he was in almost perfect shape for this time of the season," Allen said. "He'd scored a couple of 9.9s on the rings and he wowed them at the Japan meet and at the Albuquerque meet. He was just doing real well and had developed momentum. This is just a little setback though. He should be able to overcome it."

Hartung said he may still go to Los Angeles because NBC television has contract rights and still may ask him to participate, but "it definitely will not be an all-around for me."

"The floor exercise and vault are out for sure. There are some problems on dismounts for the high bar and parallel bars, but there's still potential on the horse and rings," he said.

"I feel bad that I can't go to the Iowa State meet. I would like to be with the team, especially if I can go to LA and can only do two events. I'd rather stay home and cheer on the Big Red."

Northwest Missouri hosts Husker wrestlers tonight

By Cindy Gardner

The Nebraska wrestling team should come out a winner tonight when it takes on Northwest Missouri State at Maryville, Mo., according to Coach Bob Fehrs. Last year the Huskers defeated Northwest Missouri, 43-3.

"They are better than they were last year, and we are a considerably better team than we were last year," Fehrs said. "I don't like to take anyone lightly, but we see this as a match we should win without any heroics."

The Bearcats return 10 lettermen from last year, but Fehrs said he had not seen any individual results from their meets this year and is unsure of just where their strength lies.

Fehrs said the Huskers, who defeated Drake Saturday night, will go into tonight's match without any major injuries.

"Since the season started we've been lucky. We've had our usual bumps and bruises, but so far, we haven't had any problems with the flu and we'll keep hoping to avoid it," Fehrs said.
