

ASUN asked to put rec center question on ballot

By Mary Louise Knapp

Resolutions expressing condolences to the families and friends of three students who died from injuries sustained while leaving a weekend party passed unanimously at Wednesday's ASUN meeting.

The resolutions stated the students of UNL and ASUN "wish to express their regret and sympathy" to the families, relatives, and friends of Geri Foster, a UNL student, Peter J. Phelan, a Creighton student, and Christopher R. Harries, another Creighton student.

In other business, representatives from the UNL Recreation Advisory Board presented a slide show which compared recreation facilities at other Big Eight schools to those at UNL.

Jim Brockmann, a member of the board, said he hoped the slide show would encourage student support for a proposed recreation center on City Campus.

Brockmann said before any further action can be taken on plans for the recreation center, UNL students must demonstrate their support for it.

He encouraged students to write letters to Richard Armstrong, vice-chancellor for student affairs, in order to demonstrate their support.

The board will present the slide show to campus organizations such as the Residence Hall Association and the Interfraternity Council at a later date, he said.

Stan Campbell, advisor to the board, said if a recreation center is built, every effort will be made to keep costs to students down.

Campbell said the board has not investigated sources of funding, but soliciting donations from private foundations is a possibility.

Campbell estimated the cost of a rec center building at $6 million. The board has not estimated the entire cost for the project, which includes equipment, he said.

One of the most important things ASUN can do to support the rec center is to put the question of whether it should be built on the ballot in the March 4 elections, he said.

"We would like a record turnout to vote," he said.

Armstrong had indicated that even a normal turnout of voters in the ASUN election (about 3,000 students) would give the necessary information on whether students want a new rec center, Campbell said.

If students approve the building of a rec center, the board would research costs, sources of funding, and building plans, he said.

Students would be given another opportunity to vote on the issue next year if the issue is placed on the ballot this year.

The entire project would take approximately 3½ years, he said.

In other business, Nette Nelson, chairman of the Government Liaison Committee, spoke about the committee's efforts to form a State Student Association.

She said several questions concerning the purpose and structure of the proposed SSA had been asked by students. A pamphlet with those questions and answers is available in the GLC office, she said.
