

Huskers picked for Big Eight cellar

By Charles Vaughn

Despite being rated 17th in the nation, the Nebraska wrestling team will enter the Big Eight tournament in Stillwater, Okla., Saturday picked to finish last.

Throughout the season, the other four Big Eight schools with wrestling teams have consistently been rated in the top ten. Oklahoma State, Oklahoma, Iowa State, and Missouri combine with Nebraska to form the nation's strongest wrestling conference.

"I'd say there is certainly a possibility that we could end up in last place

First-round game tickets now on sale

The Nebraska ticket office is selling tickets for the first round of the Big Eight tournament that will be Tuesday. Student tickets will cost $2 each and admission to the floor level of the arena will be on a first-come, first-served basis with a valid student ID. Student season tickets will not be accepted for the game.

Reserved seats at $5, $4, and $3 also are on sale at the South Stadium Ticket Office. The office is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

in the tournament," said Coach Bob Fehrs. "We're certainly hoping that we won't.

"We're hoping and planning that we can elevate ourselves out of last place and take a fourth. I guess it's unfortunate that people look at that and say you're probably not very good if you end up in last place, but in our conference you can be one of the top 20 teams in the nation and be last in the conference."

"We don't want to do that but everything is relative to how good your conference is. It's like being first in the conference in some other sport wouldn't get you into the top twenty nationally," he added.

Predicting who will win this wide-open tournament is no easy task, but Fehrs thinks Oklahoma will slip past Iowa State for the Big Eight crown.

"Most coaches in the conference have given the University of Oklahoma a slight edge against Iowa State as far as winning the team championship," Fehrs said.

Getting out of the Big Eight cellar will be the Huskers' goal in the tournament, Fehrs said.

"I think we have an opportunity, if we wrestle well, to slip by Missouri. I think we have enough individual talent to do that. Our hopes for doing something in the tournament rest at 134-pound Johnnie Selmon, 142-pound Al Freeman, 157-pound Jeff Dillman, and 177-pound Bill Scherr," Fehrs said.

The tournament will not only decide the Big Eight champion, but will also determine who qualifies for the NCAA championships March 11-13 in Princeton, N.J.

"The top three people (in each weight class) get to go to the nationals," Fehrs said. "Then the coaches vote on ten other individuals who get to go."
