Book price hike awaits students

Students facing the increased cost of higher education can expect to face more of the same when they purchase textbooks for upcoming semester classes, according to textbook store managers.

Jerry Mullinix, textbook department manager for Nebraska Bookstore at 1135 R St., said price share increased an average of 10 percent, with price increase of up to 20 percent in some of the technical science books.

University Bookstore Manager Larry Behrends said price increases range from 10 to 20 percent for most textbooks.

Behrends said most price increases come from inflationary pressure on the textbook publishers. He attributed little of the increase to local store costs.

Both the city and east campus unions are good places filled yet. Mullinix said Nebraska Bookstore did not receive any orders for computer science texts until the first week of August.

Nebraska Bookstore will be open until 9 p.m. for the first four days of classes. Normal hours are 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and Saturday 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

University Bookstore, with stores in the basement of the city and east unions, will be open until 9 p.m. the first four days of classes and will then return to regular hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.
