Creighton, Northeast supply UNL with top recruits for baseball season

Nebraska baseball coach John Sanders has announced the signing of 16 athletes to national letters of intent. The list includes nine high school players and seven junior college transfers, five of whom were drafted by major league teams.

The list is topped by Mark Honnor of Lincoln Northeast and Jeff Koenigsman of Omaha Creighton Prep. Honnor, a pitcher and first baseman, compiled a 17-2 two year record in high school and had a 1.40 earned-run average in Junior Legion play. He also recorded seven shut-outs, gave up 92 hits, walked 45 and struck out 190 in 145 innings in Legion play. As a hitter, Honnor averaged .326 with 19 doubles, five home runs and 52 RBI's in 56 games. He had a .988 fielding average.

Koenigsman was a captain on Creighton Prep's basketball and baseball teams last year, both of which won the state championship. He had a 0.76 ERA and a .378 batting average. Koenigsman also plays as an outfielder and was an All-Metro and All-State selection and was named Most Valuable Player of the Bartlesville, Okla. tournament where he played for the Nebraska Federal Junior Legion team.

Other freshmen signing with the Cornhuskers are Greg Rutherford of Omaha Northwest who had a 0.71 ERA and an 8-2 record last spring, outfielder Kirk Holscher of Lincoln Northeast, outfielder Rick Kjerstadof of Omaha Burke, pitcher Mike Dobbs of Lincoln East, outfielder Randy Smidt of North Platte and Mike Munson of Oxbow Union High School in Bradford, Vt.

The five players who were drafted are infielder Jeff Carter (Los Angeles), a freshman from Evanston, Ill. who hit .375 and stole 22 bases last year; infielder Dan Boever (Cincinnati and Atlanta), a junior college transfer from Westark College in Fort Smith, Ark.; pitcher Jeff Johnson (Texas and Milwaukee), from Glendale, Calif.; pitcher Todd Oakes (St. Louis) from Waldorf Junior College in Forrest City, Iowa and outfielder Dave Bajor (Kansas City and Los Angeles) from Yavapai Junior College in Prescott, Ariz.

Other junior college players signing with UNL are catcher Mark Frei, a Grand Island native who played at Cloud County Junior College in Concordia, Kan., and Dan Tomish, a third-baseman from El Camino College in Torrance, Calif.

NCAA women's tournament option open for four schools

Kansas, Missouri, Kansas State and Nebraska, all members of the Big Eight athletic conference, have declared themselves eligible for National Collegiate Athletic Association post-season tournaments in women's athletics beginning this season, according to The Associated Press.

The Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women has governed women's athletics for the past 10 years, but Division I schools voted last January to begin women's NCAA championships in 1981-82.

The schools still will operate under AIAW rules this season and will have the option of participating in both AIAW and NCAA championship events when they don't conflict.

The Kansas City Star reported last week that the four Big Eight schools mentioned have decided to participate in only NCAA events, except in indoor track, which the NCAA doesn't have. Iowa State and Colorado will only participate in AIAW events.

Oklahoma will compete in five NCAA events and five AIAW events, while Oklahoma State will try to participate in both when the dates don't conflict.

Tami Gannon, Big Eight administrative assistant, said that in order for the conference to get an automatic qualification into any of the NCAA tournaments, it must have six teams signed for NCAA.

The Big Eight women's sports affected by the six-team rule are team sports—basketball, volleyball and softball.
