A UNL piano and harpsichord professor, Harvey Hinshaw, will be one of 12 semi-finalists competing for top honors in the 1981 International American Music Competition for Pianists in New York City.

Hinshaw, a faculty member in the School of Music since 1956, will perform Thursday, at 2:35 p.m. in Carnegie Recital Hall. The three finalists will compete Sunday at 1 p.m., 3 p.m. and 5 p.m., in Carnegie Hall.

Hinshaw will perform works by Charles Ives, Joan Pa-netti, Ruth Crawford Seeger, Lou Harrison and Douglas Allanbrook, 20th century American composers, and Schumann and Bach, classical composers.

The UNL Symphonic Wind Ensemble will perform its first fall concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in Kimball Recital Hall.

The program will include a special arrangement of "Strike Up the Band," the overture "La Gazza Ladra," by Rossini, the prize-winning Roger Nixon composition, "Pacific Celebration Suite," one of Claude Smith's popular pieces, "Joyance," and the "French Militaire March," by Saint-Saens, plus two of Sousa's marches, "King Cotton" and "El Capitan."

New and recent paintings by Dan F. Howard, professor and chairman of the Art Department at UNL will be featured in a one-man show at the Joslyn Art Museum in Omaha.

The show will open Tuesday, and will launch the 1981-82 exhibition season in the Joslyn's sales/rental program.

Howard's exhibition is part of the art museum's "Spotlight Show" series.

Of the 20 works scheduled for exhibition, some 15 paintings have been completed over the past year and eight of those are being shown for the first time in a public exhibit. Examples from two recent series of paintings will be included: samplings from Howard's impressions of the interiors of well-known English buildings which he visited while in England last year, and the more recent "Bondage Series," the artist's satirical visual commentary on elements of sado-masochism.

The public is invited to attend the opening and a reception for Howard at 6 p.m. Tuesday. The exhibit will be on view through Oct. 25.
