

Gill passes . . .

Continued from Page 8

"We were a little disappointed we could not score there at the early part of the third quarter. We had converted a lot of third down situations with passes and screens and just went down there and missed a pass that would have been a touchdown," Osborne said.

The wildcats threatened late in the third period but defensive end Jimmy Williams threw quarterback Darrell Dickey for a 9-yard loss on a third and six situation, forcing KSU to settle for a field goal.

Second-string quarterback Mark Mauer and wingback Irving Fryar connected on a 49-yard pass early in the fourth period for Nebraska's fifth touchdown. Fryar added a scoring run of five yards and Bruce Mathison plunged over the 1-yard line to account for the final score.

Osborne said he was pleased with the Huskers' effort and said the team played "fairly well."

"I was pleased with the way we executed on offense. I thought in the first half, even though we shut K-State out, there were a couple of times they knocked us off the ball," Osborne said. "It looked like they ran on us a little better at times than we wanted to see."

Kansas State Coach Jim Dickey had praise for Nebraska, calling the Cornhuskers a "great team."

"They always have awesome offensive and defensive lines and their backs look like Oklahoma backs," Dickey said. "I didn't use to think they had great backs but those guys can run."

The Huskers committed eight fumbles, losing three of them, but Osborne said part of the credit goes to K-State.

"Some of the fumbles we had were because they were really knocking the ball loose. They hit just about as hard as anybody we've played," he said.

The Huskers picked up a total of 223 yards passing and 451 rushing while the Wildcats gained 50 in the air and 86 on the ground. Rozier topped Nebraska's rushing chart for the day with 153 yards on 15 carries. Williams' 51 yards led the UNL pass receivers.

Linebacker Steve Damkroger led the Nebraska Blackshirts with four tackles and six assists.

The Cornhuskers, after a 1-2 start, are now 4-2 and own a 2-0 record in Big Eight play, good enough for sole possession of the No. 1 spot in the conference standings.

"We're clicking now and we're looking good," right tackle Dan Hurley said. "We're looking forward to playing Missouri."

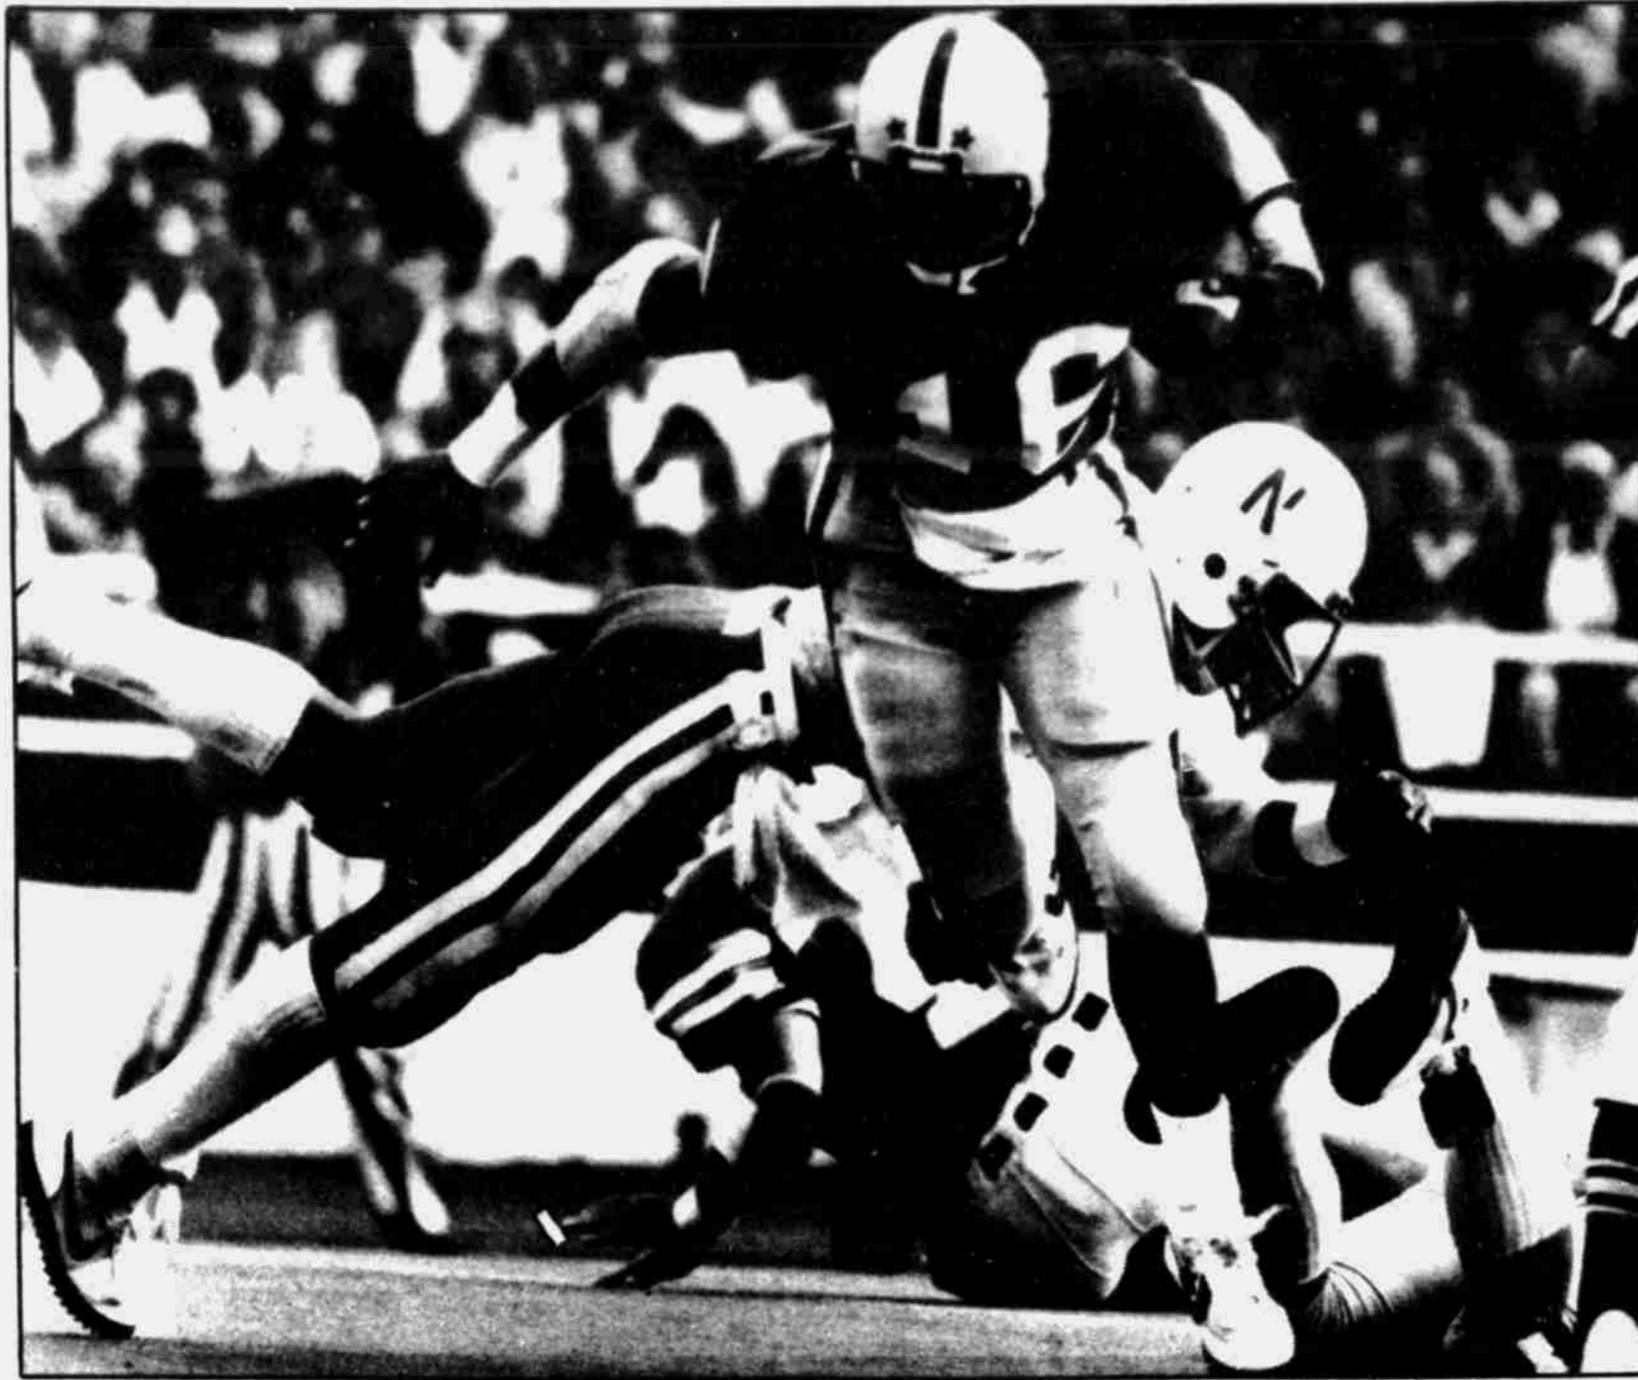

Photo by Kent Morgan Olsen

Kansas State tailback Ivan Pearl (16) escapes the grasp of a Nebraska Blackshirt. The Huskers defeated the Wildcats 49-3 Saturday in Manhattan, Kan.

THIS YEAR, UNL STUDENTS AND FACULTY WILL SPEND ON OVER $15 MILLION ON NEW AND USED CARS IN LINCOLN, NEBRASKA.

daily nebraskan

AS AN AUTOMOTIVE DEALER, YOU CAN CATCH
YOUR SHARE OF THE MARKET BY ADVERTISING
IN THE DAILY NEBRASKAN AUTOMOTIVE SECTION.
SET YOUR ADVERTISING APART FROM THE CROWD.
THE DAILY NEBRASKAN. A STEP AHEAD OF THE COMPETITION.

daily nebraskan

nebraska union ph. 472-2589 room 34

SOUTHWEST CIVIC CENTER

2606 Park Blvd.

Have Your Next Party in Lincoln's Newest Facility!

- * Seating Up to 800 People
- * 50' by 50' Dance Floor
- * Band Stand, P.A. System
- * Catering Our Speciality
- * Affordable Prices
- * Plenty of Free Parking

Ideal for Wedding Receptions, Business
Meetings, Dormitory or Greek Functions.

Call 475-8959 for Information and Reservations.

Ask for Lucy or Nancy.

Triumph & Tragedy

American Women on Annapurna I

A slide lecture by Christy Tews

MONDAY, OCT. 19
8:00p.m.
Nebraska Union

This marked the first time any woman or any American had climbed the world's 10th highest mountain, and was only the fifth successful scaling ever of the 26,545 foot Himalayan peak.

Sponsored by:

University Program Council - City
Women's Resource Center
Recreation Dept.

FREE ADMISSION!