

Cuts to affect loans next year

By Eric Peterson

The budget cuts in federal aid to education will begin to affect UNL students for the next school year, said Douglas Severs, assistant director of the UNL Scholarships and Financial Aids Office.

"This year we were not quite able to meet all the needs of some students," Severs said, "so they got Guaranteed Student Loans as well as our National Direct Student Loans — which means they may have to double up NDSL and Guaranteed Student Loan payments when they graduate."

Severs said some UNL students probably would not be able to get Guaranteed Student Loans next year. He said the state of Nebraska has not come up with revenues to make up for the expected loss of federal funding.

One major change for guaranteed student loans involves the income cap, Severs said. A family of four with an income of up to $28,000 is presently eligible for a loan, Severs said, but the new income cap is $15,000. However, 90 percent of UNL applicants are within the income limitations, Severs said.

UNL scholarships are allotted on a need-based scale, Severs said.

"We go with a packaging concept," Severs said. "We start with the students of greatest need, and give them the basic grant, the work-study, and the National Direct Student Loan. Maybe a less needy student will just get the grant, and so forth."

The priority deadline for second semester financial aid is Dec. 1, Severs said.

Student aid is available from private sources as well, Severs said. Love Library has a scholarship index listing private sources, he said.

Applications are being accepted for several new programs this year, said Steve Danz, director of The Scholarship Bank, located in Santa Monica, Calif., which offers computerized information on private financing sources for education. One source is the Exceptional Student Fellowships, part of an undergraduate scholarship program offering aid in accounting, pre-law, math, engineering, computer sciences and business-related fields.

Danz said the new limitations on federally-funded financial aid make it mandatory for students interested in private funding to apply early.

Severs said various groups charge a fee to search for scholarship sources by computer.

"I have certain reservations about these agencies," Severs said. "I'm not really excited about students going out and spending $25 or $30 on a computer scholarship search."

Professor hospitalized after suffering dizziness

A UNL professor was taken to Lincoln General Hospital Monday afternoon after he suffered from dizziness.

Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo, 61, of 8040 Northshore Drive was taken by ambulance to the hospital. Esquenazi-Mayo was working in his office when he began to feel dizzy, said fire Capt. Robert Gade, who responded to the call about 3:40 p.m. from Station No. 1.

Gade said Esquenazi-Mayo has a history of heart problems.

Esquenazi-Mayo is a professor of modern languages and literatures.

A hospital spokesperson said Esquenazi-Mayo was in good condition Monday evening.

Miss Black contest scheduled

The second annual Miss Black UNL Pageant will be Nov. 15, at 7 p.m. in the Nebraska Union Ballroom.

The pageant, sponsored by the Afrikan Peoples Union and the University Program Council-Culture Center, will select the contestant who best exemplifies the poise, intelligence, talent and character of black women.

The program will feature live entertainment and the master and mistress of ceremonies will be Cornhusker Jamie Williams and Dawn Brown of TV's Kaleidoscope.

Tickets are $2.50 in advance and $3 at the door, and may be purchased at the Nebraska Union or at the Malone Community Center on 20th and S streets.

short stuff

Joy Harjo, a member of the Creek Tribe, will read selections of her poetry this afternoon at 3:30 in the Andrews Hall coffee lounge.

The Student Y and the Women's Resource Center will sponsor a "Women in the Law" seminar featuring attorney Jackie Bailey at 12:30 today in Nebraska Union 117 as part of the "Women in Perspective" series.

The Campus Scouts meeting slated for tonight has been rescheduled.

"HILARIOUS!"

THE RUGGLES OF RED GAP

WITH
Charles Laughton

THURSDAY NOVEMBER 12
AT 7:00 & 9:00
SHELDON FILM THEATRE
TICKETS $3.00,
UNL STUDENTS W/I.D. $2.50
The American Film Classics Series

Tickets still available.

"IZOD ROCK"

Tuesday,
Nov. 10

ASR502
999

UNL
Centennial

with Special Guest
The Alley Cats

Tickets available at both Nebraska Unions, Durr, Cheap, and Homer's in Omaha. Limited number of tickets available.

Students $3.50 General $4.50 UPC

douglas 3
13th & P 475 2222

5:15-7:20-9:25
"Ten Hours of non-stop thrills."
"The Best"
RAIDERS OF THE LOST ARK (PG)

5:20 - 7:35 - 9:50
MERYL STREEP The French Lieutenant's Woman

5:15-7:15-9:15
Dudley Moore Lisa Minelli
John Gielgud
Arthur

The Center For Study of the American Business System
at the College of Business Administration

Invites you to attend the

1981 E.J. Faulkner Lecture

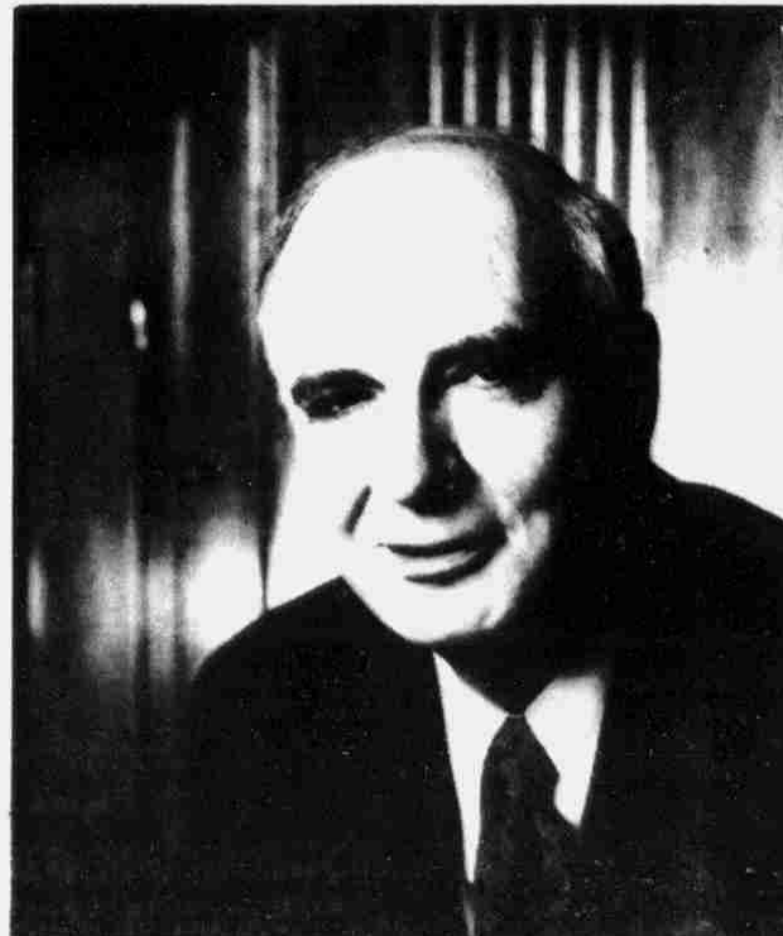

to be delivered by

MR. PAUL A. VOLCKER

Chairman

Board of Governors

Federal Reserve System

Former, Financial Economist and Vice President of Chase Manhattan Bank, Director of Financial Analysis, United States Treasury, Deputy Under Secretary and Under Secretary of the Treasury for Monetary Affairs, President and Chief Executive Officer, Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and Vice Chairman of the Federal Open Market Committee.

Wednesday, Nov. 11, 1981

10:30 a.m.

Nebraska Union

University of

Nebraska-Lincoln

The Public is Invited.