Close losses precede Husker-Cyclone matchup

By Pat Higgins

Close doesn't count in basketball, as the Huskers discovered for the fifth time this season after losing to Oklahoma State 52-50 Wednesday night.

Nebraska also lost to Missouri and Penn State by two, went into overtime against Colorado State and fell to Arkansas by just one. The Huskers hope to leave their losses behind them when they take on Iowa State at the Bob Devaney Sports Center Saturday afternoon. Tipoff is slated for 2:40 p.m.

"We've been playing pretty good basketball but we've lost some tough ones," Husker Coach Moe Iba said.

Iowa State is similar to the Huskers because they are not very big, but they are quick and good shooters, he said.

Wrestlers need win against Cowboys

By Dirk Maley

Today's wrestling meet with Oklahoma State is a critical one for Nebraska, both in terms of recruiting and in determining the future seedings for the Big Eight Championships.

Coach Bob Fehrs said a win against the fourth-ranked Cowboys would give the Huskers some publicity and ammunition for use in future recruiting battles. When recruiting people in this area, Fehrs said the Huskers usually go head-to-head against the Oklahoma schools.

Although the Big Eight Championships are more than a month away, a wrestler's performance in conference dual meets determines his seeding potential at the tournament.

Fehrs said the seedings are critical because only five wrestlers compete in each weight class. A Feb. 6 dual with Missouri is equally important as it marks the regular-season conference finale for the Huskers.

Nebraska, ranked ninth by Amateur Wrestling News, enters the meet with a 6-2 dual record while Oklahoma State boasts an 11-1 mark.

The Cowboys will be the Huskers' third Big Eight opponent. In its other conference outings, the Huskers lost to both Oklahoma, 26-17, and to Iowa State, 26-15.

"They'll run on us, but the main thing is that they are very good shooters. Iowa State is coming in here with their heads up after beating Colorado and losing to Oklahoma only by one," Iba said.

Husker guard Jack Moore is still somewhat bothered by a bad leg but has continued to play.

"Jack may not be as quick as he normally is," Iba said. "He hasn't shot a free throw in the last two games, which really hurts our team."

Iba was not sure if Claude Renfro would continue in his starting role.

Iowa State Coach Johnny Orr said the Cyclones will have to play intense defense and patient offense to win.

"We are going to have to play super to win," Orr said, "and are going to have to cut down on turnovers."

Iowa State played well at Oklahoma State, Orr said, singling out Barry Stevens as a key contributor. 6-6 Roberts Estes will start at center instead of 6-11 Ron Falenschek.

"Nebraska only lost by two to Missouri and they should have won. They had some pretty strange calls down the stretch in that game," Orr said.

Huskers top Jennies

Despite suffering from what coach Colleen Matsuhara termed the "post Big Eight blues," the Nebraska women's basketball team outlasted Central Missouri State 66-64 before 1,067 at the Bob Devaney Sports Center Wednesday night.

"It seemed like we played the game in second gear," said Matsuhara. "This is not the team that took third place in the Big Eight."

The 9-8 Huskers put themselves in a hole early missing four of their first five shots and trailing by as much as eight, at 14-6, seven minutes into the game.

Guard Crystal Coleman came off the bench to spark a Husker comeback that ended with Debra Powell's layup to give Nebraska its first lead at 27-26.

The Jennies, who came into the game with a 10-2 record, fought back in the second period from a three point deficit to reclaim the lead at 49-48.

Both teams then went cold for the next five minutes. But Carla Eades and Sarah Figg, the Jennies' top two scorers, hit consecutive baskets to put Central Missouri ahead 56-54 with 7:58 left in the game.

The teams traded baskets until Janet Smith hit a 14-foot jumper to put Nebraska back in the lead at 62-60.

Eades, who had 12 points in the second half, answered with a jumper to retie the game.

Smith then scored again for Nebraska and drew Eades' fourth foul with 2:41 remaining.

After a Central Missouri turnover Powell scored on a 15-foot jumper to put Nebraska up by four with 1:30 left on the clock. Eades scored again to close the lead back to two. Central Missouri had the opportunity to tie the game with :25 left.

Eades however, missed a 16-foot jumper with :07 to play and received her fifth foul trying to recover the rebound.
