

CFA recommends cut in student fees for unions

After five hours of testimony, the Committee for Fees Allocation recommended that students pay 38 cents less to support the Nebraska Unions in 1982-83.

Students currently pay $12.68 in student fees for the unions each semester. According to CFA recommendations made Thursday night, students would pay $12.30 for the unions each semester.

The committee also voted to reinstate the entire budget requested for the Campus Activities and Programs office. It originally recommended large cuts in the CAP budget proposal. CAP's budget is included within the unions' budget.

The committee still needs to decide how much to spend for a management review of CAP. An amount for that review should be decided by Tuesday.

The unions originally asked for $636,270 in student fees. CFA had recommended decreasing that amount by $194,460. After the appeal Thursday night, however, the union budget was at $572,032.

Daryl Swanson, union director, appealed CFA's proposals to:

- pay investment earnings to student organization accounts.

- eliminate meal benefits to union employees.

- reduce the union's reserve account.

- drastically reduce the CAP budget.

After the hearing, CFA decided not to recommend that Student Activities and Financial Services pay interest to students organizations. However, the committee decided to cut the union employee meal benefits and decrease the union's reserve account.

Union utilities

Swanson objected that CFA did not recommend an additional $51,738 for the reserve fund. He said this money, which would be added to the present reserve fund of $101,300, is needed because university officials have not decided if students or the university should pay union utilities. According to Richard Armstrong, vice chancellor for student affairs, Gov. Charles Thone has said that no more than 50 percent of the utilities for the union can be paid from state funds.

Asking for an appeal of the CAP budget was Sara Boatman, director of the CAP office. She said CAP contacts 277,245 students through its programs.

Previously, CFA recommended to reduce the CAP staff to six persons (it currently has 46 on its staff), eliminate CAP on East Campus and funds for major concerts.

Those recommendations were cancelled, however, in recommending the entire original CAP budget. CAP voted to reinstate all of CAP-East and to provide money for major concerts. The rest of the CAP budget was voted on by the committee line by line.

Jim Frohman, CFA chairman, asked the committee where the waste in CAP was.

"I haven't seen any number showing that CAP wastes," he said. Nobody can support cuts when they cannot know the effects that they will have, he said.

No demand increase

CFA member Greg Abboud said he could not support the CAP budget because "they've had a tremendous increase in expenditures but no increase in the demand for their services or responsibilities."

Most of the problems on this university are because of similar increases in expenditures, Abboud said.

Hazel Fox, professor of nutrition and food management and a faculty advisor to CFA, said the CAP offices' growth is parallel to the growth of the administration.

"I will never believe that we need all of this administration," she said.

Vice Chancellor Armstrong said he detected a diversity of views on the committee. When CFA questions the integrity of the professionals who prepared the union budget, however, it has gone too far, he said. Voting line items exceeds CFA's authority, he said.

"The committee is bent in the wrong direction," Armstrong said.

CFA's final recommendation for the recreation department budget will be made Tuesday.

Regents to discuss Kwik Shop in emergency meeting Monday

In an attempt to stop the proposed building of a Kwik Shop on campus, the NU Board of Regents will have an emergency meeting Monday to discuss purchasing the land in question.

Kwik Shop Co. has been issued a permit to construct a store between 13th and 14th streets on R Street. The site is located between Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and St. Mark's on the Campus. Both organizations have objected to the Kwik Shop project.

The regents are meeting to begin the procedure to purchase the site, Richard Wood, NU general counsel, said Sunday.

According to state law, the university must announce 45 days in advance its intent to purchase the land before evoking eminent domain, a process of acquiring property for public use.

Wood said he hopes some type of settlement can be reached before eminent domain is enacted.

NU officials object to the construction of the store because it interferes with plans to turn R Street into a parking area and pedestrian mall, Wood said. The extra traffic that the store would generate would interfere with the project, he said.

Correction

Because of an editing error, a headline and article in the Friday Daily Nebraskan on Page 3 incorrectly said a man was arrested for theft.

David E. Clark, 1425 N. 22nd St., was arrested and arraigned on one count of third degree sexual assault, which involves unpermitted touching of the victim's intimate parts, and a related charge of public indecency. Three additional and related charges of public indecency also were brought against Clark.

According to UNL Police Sgt. Dick Gammel, no one has yet been arrested in connection with the theft.

Skills for Sale At prices you can afford

Wiley Self-Teaching Guides put valuable, marketable skills within your reach. Wide-ranging skills, like managing your time more efficiently, or using the revolutionary microcomputers. Practical, must-have skills in calculus or accounting. Skills to improve your chances on the LSAT, or help you find new meaning in art.

Self-Teaching Guides from John Wiley & Sons. 75 paperback skill-masters at low, low bargain prices—field-tested to ensure your success.

Open Monday-Friday, 8-5:30, Saturday, 9-5:30

We're more than a bookstore

NEBRASKA BOOKSTORE

12th & R Streets in Lincoln Center 476-0111

Be a professional . . .
or at least look like one.

B-WEEK Presents
DRESS FOR SUCCESS

- fashion
- speakers
- raffle

March 8, 1982

8:30pm Union Ballroom

WHY SHOULD ANYONE JUMP OUT OF A PERFECTLY GOOD AIRPLANE? IT'S SAFE, FUN, RELATIVELY INEXPENSIVE AND EASY. GRAVITY DOES ALL THE WORK!

MAKE THE SPRING JUMP WITH:
BLUE SKY JUMP SCHOOL
USPA JUMPMASTERS
USPA INSTRUCTORS
OVER 30 YEARS EXPERIENCE
Call Evenings: 483-5970
Group Rates Available
Jumping Year Round

kinko's

COMPLETE SERVICES

for Dissertation and Thesis Preparation

- Highest Quality Xerox Duplicating
- No Charge for Collating
- Reduction Capabilities
- Self-Service Copiers

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

330 No. 13 • 475-2679 & 48th & Vine • 466-8159

Shorts

The Alvin Ailey Dance Theater will perform at Kimball Recital Hall March 1 through 3 at 8 p.m.

A cheerleading tryout orientation session will be Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the track area of the Bob Devaney Sports Center. All men and women interested in the demonstration and question and answer period are invited to attend.

This week's "potpourri" session at the YWCA is entitled "Tips for the Novice Gardener" giving information about easy-care planting to beautify homes for spring, summer and fall. Fee per session is 50 cents, meeting from noon to 1 p.m. Wednesday.

RHA officer applications due today

Any student living in residence halls who wishes to run for a Residence Hall Association office must contact Steve Rowe, the current RHA vice president, by 5 p.m. today.

RHA elections for president, vice president, secretary and treasurer will be held in the residence halls Wednesday. Any student with a 2.5 G.P.A. may apply.

LIFE
ISN'T CHEAP.

GIVE TO THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY.