

Big Eight...

There was another record broken in the meet Saturday, this one in the 600-yard run by Missouri's Ros Dunlap whose time of 1:18.56 was not only a Big Eight and sports center record but an American and collegiate record as well.

Another outstanding performance was turned in by Oklahoma's Kellie Cathey who was a double winner, taking first in the mile and three mile.

Her time of 15:28.49 in the three mile set a Big Eight and sports center record, in addition to being a national qualifying time.

This was the third consecutive year the Huskers had won the conference indoor title.

On the men's side it was a different story as the title came down to a fight between Kansas and Iowa State. The Jayhawks beat out Iowa State, 94-80.

The meet was marred by a controversy over the appearance of Kansas high jumper Tyke Peacock.

Peacock, who also plays basketball for the Jayhawks, played in Kansas' 63-61 loss to Iowa State in Lawrence Saturday afternoon and then flew from Lawrence to Lincoln.

Earlier the Big Eight coaches and meet officials had ruled that Peacock had to be present at the time his event started for him to compete.

He arrived just after his event started but still was allowed to compete. Peacock won the event with a jump of 7-3 1/2.

Peacock's win and the disqualification of Iowa State's Sunday Uti after he had won the 440-yard dash, gave the Jayhawks the margin they needed.

Joe Staub led the Husker efforts as he won the shot put with a toss of 62-8 1/2. The Huskers' only other winner was Paul Downes in the 1000-yard run.

Nebraska assistant Coach Dick Railsback said he was not surprised by the results.

"When you have a tough conference like the Big Eight you've got to expect that," Railsback said. "There were a lot of schools in the race and that shows how tough the competition is."

Another outstanding performance was turned in by Colorado's Mark Scrutton, who won the two-mile and three-mile runs. Scrutton has won 10 individual Big Eight titles.

Gymnasts take fourth crown

The Nebraska women's gymnastics team won the Big Eight title Friday, outscoring second-place Missouri 143.9-141.5. It is the fourth Big Eight crown in the past five years for the Cornhuskers.

The 143.9 points broke the UNL school record of 142.75 which was set earlier this season against Minnesota.

Nebraska's Kim Grabowski finished second in the all-around with a 36.25, breaking her personal record of 35.25.

Grabowski's finish in the all-around, as well as a second-place finish in the vault and third on the balance beam, earned her a spot on the all-Big Eight team. Terri Furman also earned a spot on the all-conference team with a fourth-place finish in the all-around.
