Songfest to kick off 1982 Greek Week

Greek Week 1982 will begin April 12 at 6 p.m., with a Greek Sing on the Centennial Mall, according to Kris Saalfeld, who co-chairs the week with Greg McCormick. During the evening, houses will participate in a singing competition, and presidents of houses, the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic executives will don bibs in preparation for a dessert-eating contest.

Saalfeld said the week's theme is "Celebrating Over 100 Years of Tradition at UNL." It will continue with a blood drive for the Red Cross April 13 through 15, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Also April 15 will be an awards banquet at 5:30 p.m. in the National Bank of Commerce building. Gov. Charles Thone will speak, and an invitation is required for admittance, Saalfeld said.

Twelve acts will compete in the Greek Talent Show April 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Nebraska Union Ballroom. Admission is $2 in advance, and $2.50 the day of the show.

Wedekind hears colleges' innovations

ASUN Senate President Dan Wedekind and Second Vice President Bob Fitzgerald shared information with representatives from other campuses at the fourth conference of the American Association of University Students in Philadelphia March 31 through April 3.

"It was good to hear some updated information," Wedekind said. "It's very helpful to find out what other universities are doing."

Wedekind said the organization is designed to include all major research institutions in the United States. About 50 universities sent more than 300 representatives to the University of Pennsylvania conference, according to the AAUS news release.

This year's AAUS conference focused on the Reagan budget cuts, sexual intolerance and improving faculty-student interaction. Various member institutions brought information about their innovations to the workshops.

Wedekind said financial aid cuts were a major concern at the conference.

"What I was interested in was how other states are looking at ways to fund financial aid," he said. "There was some indication that the states have got to take the place of the federal government."

Wedekind said much of his and Fitzgerald's time was spent away from the workshops in planning a more developed AAUS program and organizing future conferences.

"I feel very excited about the potential that this conference has," he said. "This is a whole new approach to bringing information about what's going on."
