Center ready to score final tests

Finals week is the time of year when many tests are crammed into one short period. For faculty members, the burden of grading the exams is time consuming. As a result, many professors have students mark their test answers on computer sheets, so they may be scored by machine. Delivee Wright is the director of the UNL Teaching and Learning Center, where the tests are scored. Wright said she does not expect problems from the large number of exams during finals week, as there haven't been any problems in past years.

"We're usually able to handle that week fairly effectively," she said. "Our staff gets estimates from the faculty on how many tests will need scoring and on which days and times they will be given."

The scoring machine can grade as many as 500 tests each hour, but extra time is needed to adjust the machine for the correct answers on each test, according to Wright.

Often during finals week the teaching and learning center staff members work overtime to accommodate the demand, she said.

"Occasionally, the center has some problems with machine breakdowns," Wright said. "But during finals week IBM responds very quickly. They realize the workload we are under."

The center usually is able to score tests in a reasonable time, she said. However, professors have the responsibility to assign a letter grade and return exams to the students.

"If those aren't seagulls ... we're in trouble."

There's a better way to see America this summer.

Now that school's out, take some time out to see America. And a great way to see it is on Greyhound with Ameripass.

The Greyhound Ameripass is your passport to unlimited travel in the U.S. and Canada. For one economical price, you get the freedom of over 100,000 miles of Greyhound routes coast to coast. And you can get an Ameripass for 7, 15, or 30 days.

If you're going straight home, don't forget about Greyhound's convenient schedules. No matter where you're going, chances are Greyhound's going there.
