Forensics team places

The UNL forensics team participated in the Kansas State University Debate and Individual Events Tournament Oct. 8 through 10. The team placed second overall in the Individual Events Sweepstakes.

UNL students Dan Bloomingdale, a sophomore from Omaha, and Vicki Vilhauer, a freshman from Lincoln, advanced to the quarterfinals of the junior division to help in the placing.

In the individual events, Deb Renter, a graduate student from Valley, placed first in Prose, third in Rhetorical Criticism and fourth in Dramatic Interpretation.

Michele Sindelar, a senior from Norfolk, teamed up with Renter to take second in the Dramatic Duo section. Steve Slagel, a senior from Lincoln, took fifth place in the Impromptu competition.

Roger Aden, a junior from Scottsbluff, placed first in Rhetorical Criticism, first in Informative Speaking and third in Extemporaneous Speaking.
