Tune-a-gram . . .

The costume plays as big a part in her performance as the song and dance she delivers. Lawson said she writes the lyrics in her musical portfolio using tunes from older, popular songs. She has some standard songs for special occasions like 19th, 30th or 50th birthdays, but will write a special message that includes pet peeves or hobbies. Lawson said most people can't tell that standard songs weren't written for them.

Tune-a-gram performs for birthdays, anniversaries, Mother's and Father's Days, to celebrate new births and to wish someone a happy divorce. Performers have even sung wedding proposals and delivered rings.

Lawson said singing telegrams are appropriate for any occasion — almost. She did refuse to fire one man's employees via Tune-a-gram.

In addition to Lawson, Tune-a-gram employs the talents of Karl Nyquist, a music major at UNL; Ann Bauers, a belly dancer; Greg Ebert, a magician and Linda Plock and Regina Kennett, substitute dancers.

These people help deliver the standard tunes, balloon-a-tunes and Magic-grams. Tune-a-gram also delivers Belly Tellys, Miss Piggy (a sexy gram usually sent to men) or Ballerina-grams, a flirtatious male who is sent to women.

People request Belly Tellys by Bauers more than any other special service, Lawson said.

Bauers said she learned her belly dancing skills nine years ago at a seminar in Wichita. Now she teaches the skill at the YWCA and at seminars. She dances at parties and conventions in addition to performing Belly Telly.

Ann Bauers, a belly dancer, delivers her speciality, a Belly Telly.

Refund . . .

Rees are refunded from Oct. 3, to Oct. 14 at the Financial Services office. Students must present their punched IDs and their file copy to receive their refunds.

Marlene Beyke, ASUN director of development, said most students respond that they need the money, or that they don't use the services adequately.

Most refunds were given to non-traditional students or students living off campus, she said.

"Students lose out on a lot more than $5.16 by getting their refund," she said, citing ASUN's free legal service and UPC's films as examples.
