

'Ann Animous' wins song non-contest

After weeks of speculation, the winners of the very first Daily Nebraskan unlikely singer/song non-contest can be revealed.

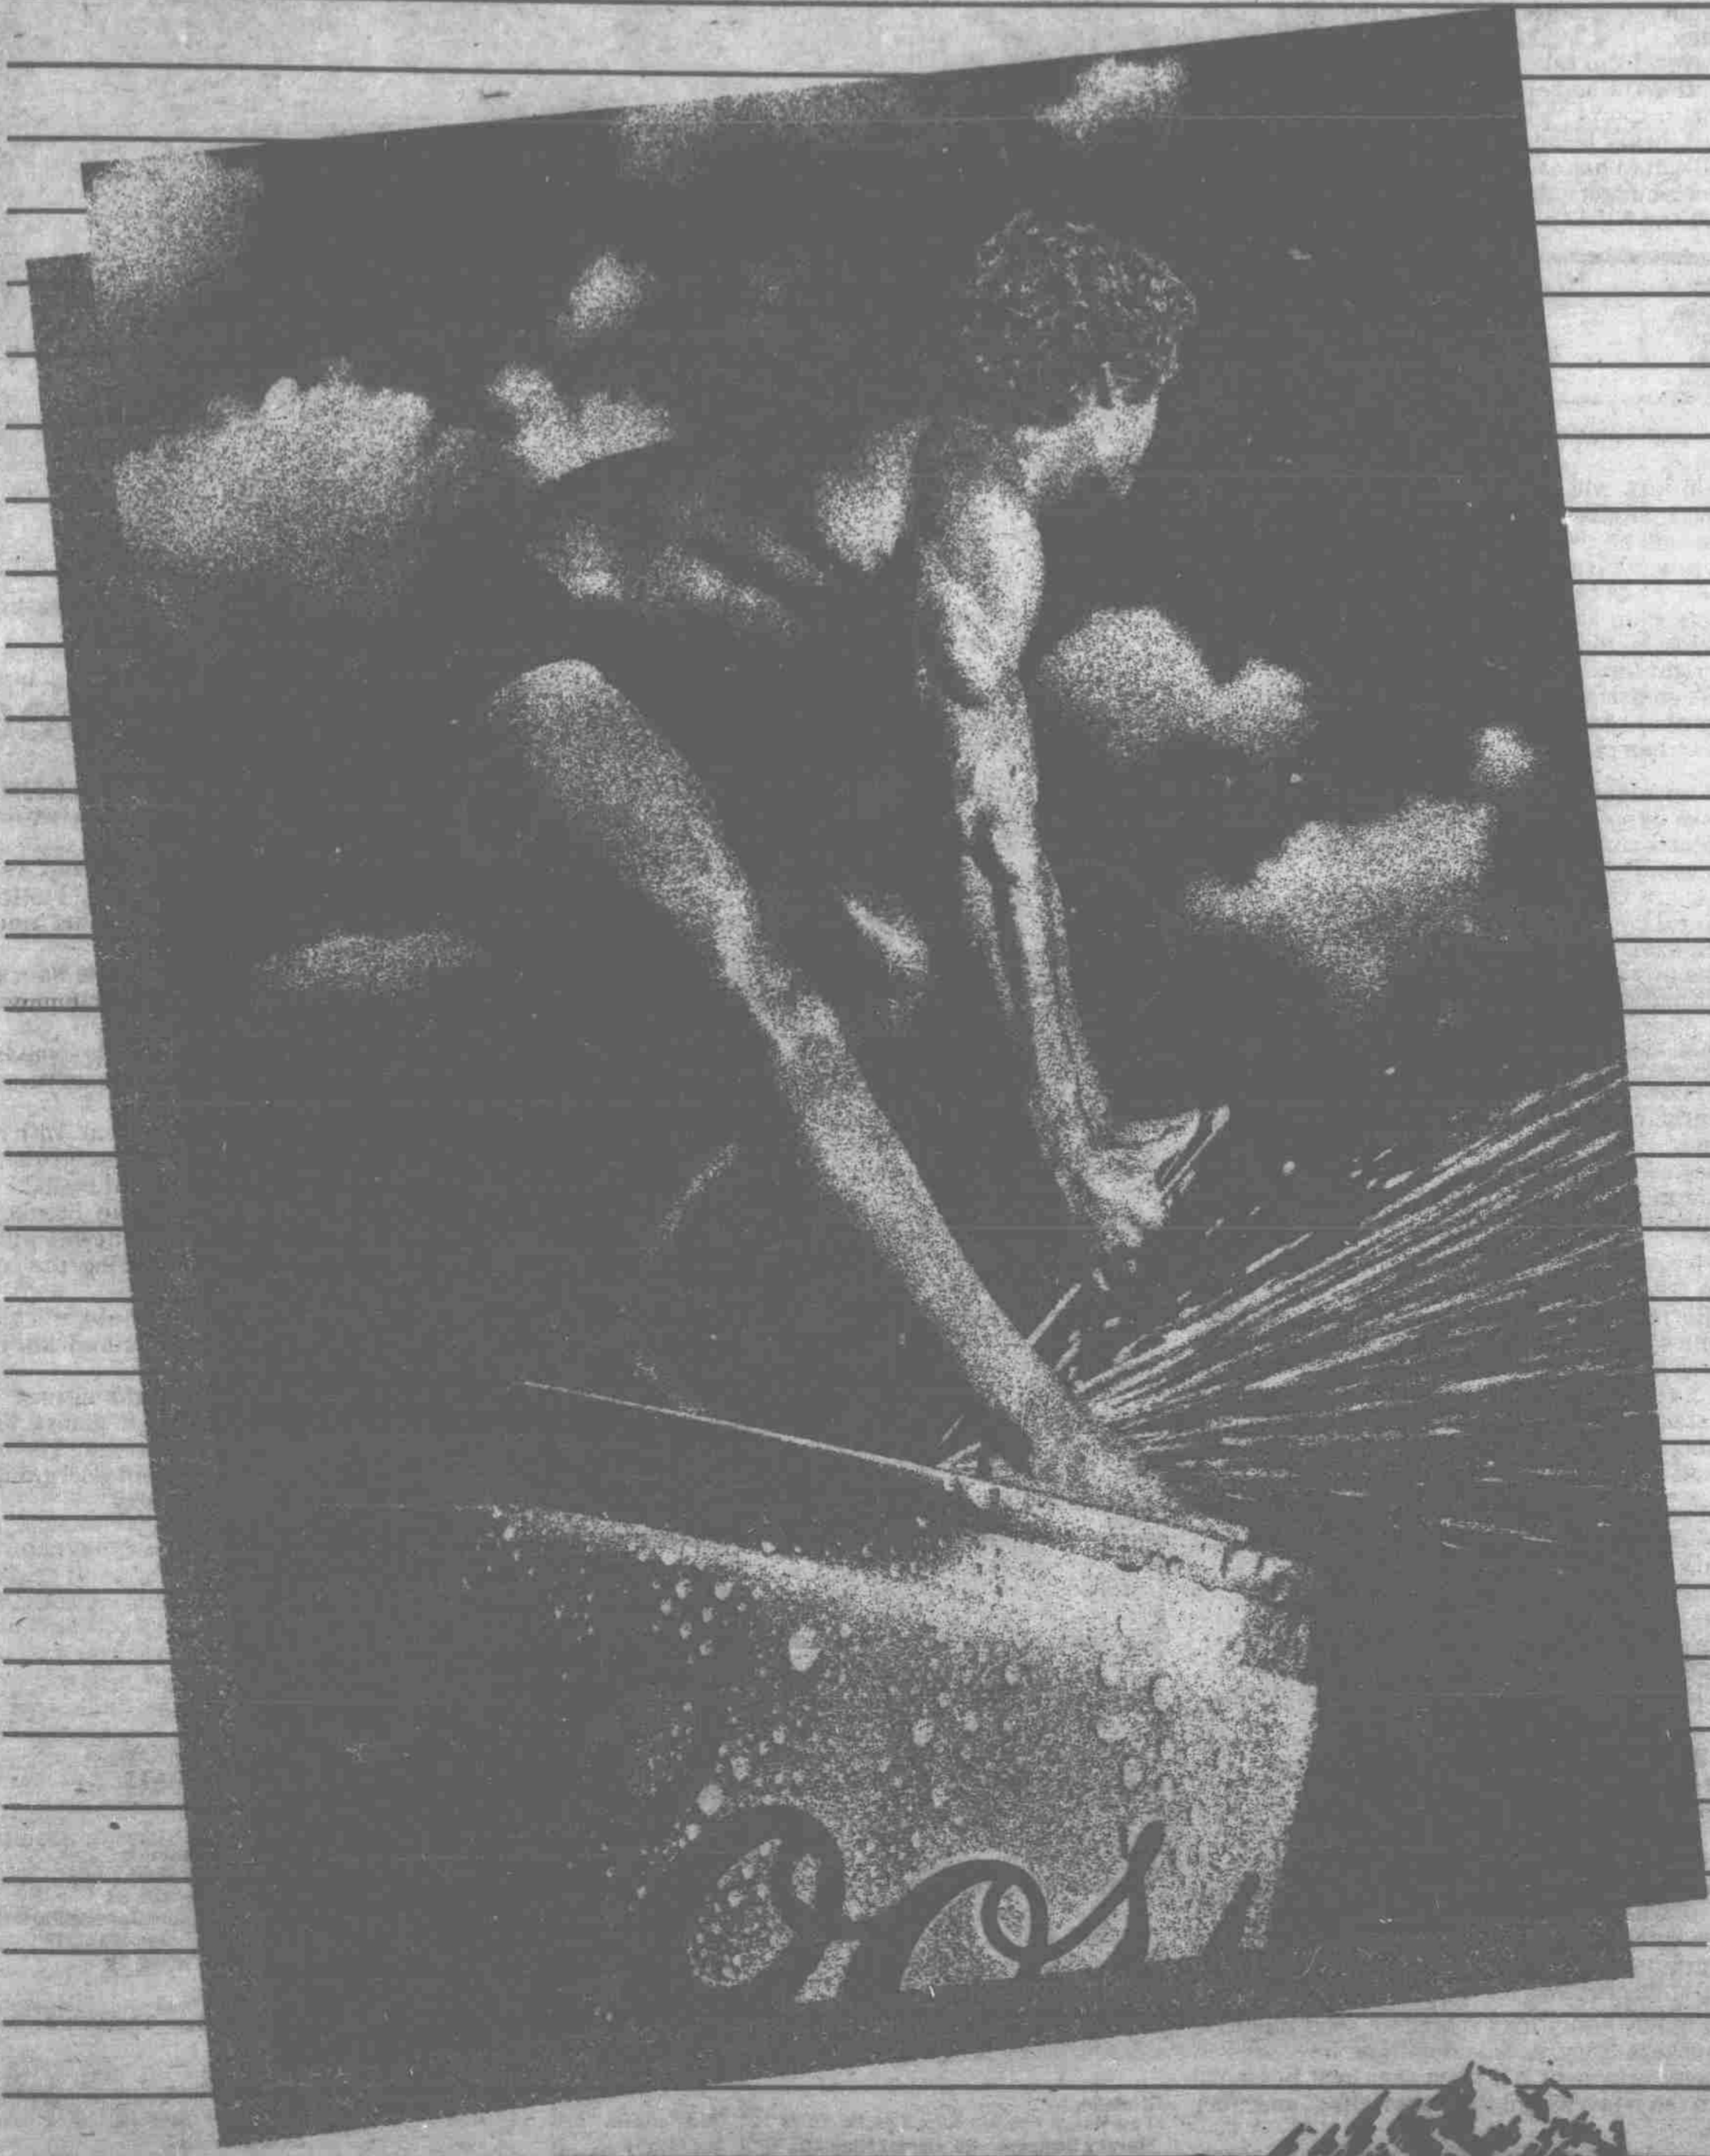

Third place goes to Ken and Kathy Attenberger for their contributions. Among their unlikely combinations were "At the Zoo" by The Animals, "Yummy Yummy Yummy" by Vanilla Fudge and "Hair" by Men Without Hats.

Lynne Wittmuss and Kathleen Rathje earn the coveted second place position. Among this duo's suggestions were "If I Had a Hammer" by the Carpenters, "Homeward Bound" by Journey,

"Swingin'" by the Monkees, "I Am a Rock" by Neil Diamond and "Mr. Postman" by the Lettermen.

And coming in with the big first place entry was a reader whose entry was signed "Ann Animous."

Among Animous' 56 entries were these gems: "Ebb Tide" by Dinah Shore, "Annie Get Your Gun" by the Sex Pistols, "I Talk to the Trees" by Three Dog Night, "My Little Town" by the Village People (had enough of these yet?), "Besame Mucho" by Kiss, "I Shot the Sherriff" by Freddy Cannon, "Ring of Fire" by George Burns and "Tip-toe Through The Tulips" by Gordon Lightfoot.

THE BEST OF THE ROCKIES IS YOURS.
