Bruins may prove to be Huskers' toughest opponent'

Well, once again it's time for fun Fridays and sinful Saturdays. So, without further ado, on with the show, pressure of this game, because, make UCLA at Nebraska: The Minnesota game proved beyond a doubt that Nebraska's football team will probably average more points than the uni-versity's basketball team this year.

On the other hand, they may give up more points on defense, too.

The Bruins are no pushovers, despite their mediocre record. Arizona State and Georgia are highly regarded Still, no matter how good the Bruins are it's doubtful that they'll be able to stop the Huskers. But then again, there are few defenses in the NFL that could stop Nebraska. The Huskers superior firepower makes the difference: Nebraska 38, UCLA 24.

Ohio State at Iova: The Buckeyes are coming off an impressive conquest of Oklahoma. Their offensive line was able to handle the mean old Sooners anytime they wanted to.

The key to this game is how Hayden Fry's young players react to the no mistake about it, this is a big game. The winner of this game will, more than likely end up in the Rose Bowl.

The Buckeyes have been in this position before. The Hawks haven't. On that basis it looks like: Ohio State 24, Iowa 17.

Tulsa at Oklahoma: This could turn out to be a close game. OK, folks, stop laughing. Now listen, Tulsa really does have a pretty good football team.

In fact, they were the best 10-1 team in the country last year that didn't go to a howl game.

The Sooners, on the other hand, are beat up. Marcus Dupree is doubtful, as are several other players. Add to this the fact that the Sooners are coming off a tough loss like week that has to leave them a little down and you have the makings of, um, the UPSET OF THE YEAR. OK, so lock me up: Tulsa 28, Oklahoma 21.

Notre Dame at Miami, Fla.: Sometime in the future, when an (as of yet) unknown write records the history of Notre Dame football in a 10,000-page opus, he may well refer to Gerry Faust's reign as "the Roller Coaster day, the new sport's program of UNL radio KRNU (90.3 FM) will premiere Saturday at 11 a.m.

KRNU sports program premieres Saturday

The 30-minute program will be produced by members of the sport's broadcasting class taught by Howard Graves, assistant professor of journalism at UNL. The program format will include special advances for the Nebraska football game and other college football games that day, live remotes from the Nebraska Union, a special guest interview and highlights from college and and area high school football games.

"We're going to try to bring everyone up to date in a half-hour" producer

NU 90 Sport's Satur- Vonn Jones said. "We'd to the class format, he like to get a little more said.

The game broadcast than a half-hour, but for now that's all we have to on KRNU will begin at work with." 1:20 p.m., with juniors Jones said four field Jim Rose and Ward Jacreporters will assist host obson doing play-by-Roger Mundt for Satur- play and color commenday's broadcast. Pro- tary respectively. gram hosts will switch Back by popular demand!

LITTLE KING'S BITE FOR A BUCK

Back injury may sideline Gill

At a luncheon Monday, Coach Tom Osborne labeled the Huskers' injury situation at Nebraska "remarkably good." But by Thursday night, offensive tackle Tim Roth had severely injured his knee and the status of quarterback Turner Gilland running back Tom Rathman for the UCLA game remains uncertain.

Gill reinjured his back lifting weights Wednesday practice. Osborne said he originally hurt his back last week throwing a long pass in prac-

"He appears to be about the same as last week," Osborne said. "I'm planning on him being ready."

Rathman sprained his ankle Monday and Osborne said that it is "unlikely" he will see action. Osborne said he is uncertain whether Roth's injury will require surgery.

SATURDAY

September 24, 1983

only S4 00

for each No. 2 (includes Ham, Salami & Provolone)

Not valid with any other offer or on deliveries

SUNDAY

September 25, 1983

for each Roast Beef

Not valid with any other offer or or deliveries

Join the club.

Your student membership isn't cheap, it's just inexpensive.

