Buy American

Gov. Bob Kerrey signs a joint Nebraska-Republic of China grain sales agreement at the State Capitol Friday. Taiwanese trade representatives bought $34.3 million worth of Nebraska grain in their Lincoln stop of a 22-state, "buy American" trip. They plan to buy $600 million in agricultural and $100 million in industrial products while in the United States.

Abrous said that in 1977, the United Nations instituted an arms embargo against South Africa. All U.N. members must participate in the embargo. The United Nations also provides legal and monetary assistance to victims and political prisoners of the apartheid system, he said.

All U.N. members have condemned the apartheid system but are divided on how to deal with it, Abrous said. The United Nations is working for the total divestment of South Africa. The system must eventually go; it is not possible merely to reform it, he said.

The United States has condemned they system, but does not favor all of the United Nations policies, Abrous said.

United States citizens who wish to help in the fight against apartheid should write to their senators and urge full endorsement of the United Nations' actions toward South Africa, he said.

Abrous is also the Deputy to the Director of the United Nations Educational and Training Program for South Africa.

Stanley Karnow's

Vietnam A History

The Vietnam War involved four presidential administrations, hundreds of thousands of troops, and the deep feeling of millions of Americans. Yet most of us have never understood why.

Stanley Karnow's brilliant and unprejudiced new book shows both why and how this bloody war that no one wanted was kept alive.

Vietnam: A History is for everyone who was involved on any level in that war, for everyone who is still haunted by it, and for a new generation to whom Vietnam is only a name.
