Congress approves bill honoring King

WASHINGTON — Congress Wednesday approved a bill creating a national holiday honoring Martin Luther King for his leadership of the civil rights movement. The Senate voted 78 to 22 for passage, as Loretta Scott King, widow of the slain civil rights leader, watched from a gallery.

The bill, which President Reagan has said he will sign, would establish the 10th official national holiday and the first in memory of a black.

Lebanese talks postponed

BEIRUT — The Lebanese government Wednesday postponed the start of a national reconciliation conference, scheduled for today after four of nine politicians invited refused to meet at Beirut Airport. State-run Beirut Radio quoted an official government announcement as saying the conference would begin at an unspecified later date. It has been delayed for more than three weeks because of a dispute over the site.

The talks, envisioned in a Sept. 26 cease-fire agreement between the Lebanese army and the country's three main militias, are designed to end almost nine years of civil war by finding a new power-sharing formula for government.

Retaliation for vodka ban

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union has told American grain exporters it will not import grain originating in a state that has banned sales of Russian vodka, U.S. grain trade sources said Wednesday.

About 20 states, including Iowa, have prohibited sales of Russian vodka in retaliation for the Soviet downing of a commercial South Korean airliner with 269 passengers and crew Sept. 1, the sources said. U.S. Agriculture Department officials said they have received no official word from Moscow. They said such a demand would have little effect on U.S. grain shipments to the Soviet Union. Grain trade sources said they questioned the practicality of the move since sales are made from large port storage facilities that hold grain from many states.

De Lorean fails FBI lie test

LOS ANGELES — A lie detector test has shown that carmaker John De Lorean was a knowing and willing participant in an alleged drug deal, a U.S. government prosecutor said Wednesday. De Lorean, 58, Tuesday underwent a two-and-a-half hour lie detector test conducted by an FBI examiner. He previously had taken a lie detector test arranged by his lawyers and conducted by David Raskin of the University of Utah. Defense lawyers said this test had cleared De Lorean of drug charges and had shown his arrest was "set up."

De Lorean, arrested in Los Angeles a year ago, has pleaded not guilty to the drug charges, including one of distributing about 60 pounds of cocaine. Federal Judge Robert Takasugi scheduled a court hearing for Friday to decide whether the lie detector tests should be admitted as evidence at the trial, scheduled to begin Nov. 1.

Nobel prizes to Americans

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Americans Wednesday completed a clean sweep of the 1983 Nobel science prizes when the physics award went jointly to astrophysicists Subrahmanyan Chandrasekhar and William Fowler, and the chemistry prize went to Henry Taube. The Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences awarded the physics prize to Indian-born Chandrasekhar, 73, of the University of Chicago and to Fowler, 72, of the California Institute of Technology for their separate work on the evolution of stars. Canadian-born Taube, 67, of Stanford University, was honored for his work on the mechanisms of electron transfer reactions, especially in metal complexes.

Last week American geneticist Barbara McClintock received the medicine prize for her discovery of mobile genetic elements.
