Walsh said she did not know if the plan would have any effect on recruiting. "I don't know that it will," she said. "We certainly didn't have that in mind. Maybe it would reflect on the seriousness of our commitment to their degree."

The new plan may also affect players drafted by the USFL, Walsh said. The USFL drafts in January and plays its season in the spring.

Last year Brad Johnson was drafted by the Boston Breakers of the USFL and was forced to drop out of school. He returned to school last fall and graduated in December.
