

Welsch announces fall DN editor staff

Chris Welsch, editor in chief of the Daily Nebraskan for the 1984 fall semester, has announced his staff of senior editors and columnists.

Michiela Thuman will be the fall news editor. Thuman, a news-editorial and English major from Omaha, has reported, copy edited and supervised the copy desk for 4 semesters at the Daily Nebraskan. She also worked on supplements. Thuman interned as a copy editor with Pacific Stars and Stripes in Tokyo in 1982.

Associate news editors are:

- James Fussell, a news-editorial major from Philadelphia, has been a reporter for the Daily Nebraskan and will be its summer news editor. He has an undergraduate degree in political science.

- Brad Kuhn, a news-editorial junior from Omaha, has worked at the Daily Nebraskan as a reporter and will intern this summer with the Wall Street Journal Chicago Bureau.

- Thom Gabrukiewicz, a junior news-editorial major from Fremont, will be the layout editor. Gabrukiewicz has worked at the Daily Nebraskan as a reporter and was layout editor last fall. He was summer intern editor of the weekly Ord Quiz last summer and will intern with the Omaha World-Herald this summer.

Vicki Ruhga, a news-editorial junior from Ralston, will be fall copy desk supervisor. Ruhga worked as an associate news editor at the Daily Nebraskan this spring and has worked as a reporter and copy editor.

Ward W. Triplett III was selected as the sports editor for the second time. Triplett began working for the Daily Nebraskan in 1980. He has reported sports, arts and entertainment and news, copy edited, been editor of supplements, and is currently news editor.

Christopher Burbach was selected as arts and entertainment editor. Burbach, an English major from Omaha, has reported for all three sections of the paper, copy edited and been an editorial columnist.

The night news editors are Stacie Thomas and Jeff Goodwin. Goodwin is a night news editor this year and was assistant night news editor last fall. He has reported sports, entertainment and news, and written columns for the Daily Nebraskan. Goodwin is a graduate student with an English major.

Thomas, from Aurora, is a junior news-editorial major. She has reported news for two semesters at the Daily Nebraskan. She also has edited copy this semester.

Lauri Hopple will be wire editor. Hopple currently is an associate news editor and has reported news and entertainment for the Daily Nebraskan. Hopple is a junior news-editorial major and will be editor of the summer Daily Nebraskan.

Joel Sartore, a senior news-editorial major from Ralston, will be the photo chief this fall. Sartore has worked at the Daily Nebraskan as a photographer for about two years. He has done photo work for The Associated Press, the World-Herald, the Ralston Recorder and The Nebraska Blueprint. He will intern as a photographer at the Wichita Eagle-Beacon this summer.

David Creamer, a senior news-editorial major from York will be assistant photo chief. Creamer has worked as a photographer and sports editor for the Syracuse Journal-Democrat, as a sports photographer for the York-News Times, has shot sports for the Wesleyan University Sports Information Department, and has been a photographer for the Daily Nebraskan. Creamer will intern as a staff photographer for the Des Moines Register this summer.

Mona Koppelman was selected as depth supplements editor. Koppelman is a senior news-editorial major. She interned with the World-Herald last summer and will intern with the Miami Herald this summer. She has reported for all three sections of the Daily Nebraskan, and has been an associate news editor. Currently, Koppelman is a senior reporter at the Daily Nebraskan.

Jeff Browne was selected First Down and supplements editor. Browne is currently the sports editor and has worked as a sports reporter for the Daily Nebraskan. Browne is a senior news-editorial major from Lincoln.

Billy Shaffer will be the art director next fall. Shaffer will be a graduate student in the UNL art school in the fall. He has worked as an entertainment reporter and columnist at the Daily Nebraskan, as well as being an artist for four semesters.

Editorial columnists are: Kuhn; Koppelman; Goodwin; Burbach; Browne; Liz Burden, a senior broadcasting major; Jim Rogers, who is attending UNL's law school; Keria Soderberg, a senior news editorial major and also current Daily Nebraskan columnist.

Nothing Else Feels Like Navy Flying.

The thunderous roar of jet engines rolls across the carrier's flight deck.

Throttles are at full power, and you're waiting for the signal to launch.

Now. The catapult fires. G forces press you back into your seat. Suddenly, you're flying low and fast over the open sea. Zero to 150 in 2.5 seconds.

Nothing else feels like Navy flying. Nothing. And when you become a pilot or flight officer you're at the very heart of it.

Once you've earned your wings, the Navy puts you in full control of a multi-million-dollar supersophisticated combination of jet aircraft and electronic wizardry.

And Navy training makes sure you're up to the challenge. Rigorous flight training gives you the navigation, aerodynamics and other technical know-how you need.

Leadership and professional schooling prepare you for the immediate decision-making authority and management responsibility you have as an officer in the Navy.

On the ground, as a Navy officer, you work with and supervise today's most highly skilled aviation professionals. In the air, as part of the naval aviation team, you have about the most exciting job anyone can have.

It's a uniquely rewarding job with pay to match. You start at $18,300 a year—more than the average corporation pays you just out of college. After four years, with regular Navy promotions and pay increases, your annual salary climbs to $31,100. That's over and above a full package of benefits and privileges.

Find out how much more a job in naval aviation has to offer. Fill in the coupon. No other job gives you the kind of leadership experience or fast responsibility you get as part of the naval aviation team. And nothing else feels like Navy flying.

Three UNL College of Agriculture staff members have received honors for outstanding advising and teaching abilities.

Charles Adams, former animal science professor, received the 1984 L. K. Crowe Outstanding Undergraduate Student Advising Award from the college. Adams retired in January after 35 years at UNL.

Anne Johnson, an agricultural communications instructor, received a Special Meritorious Award from the College of Agriculture for her work in Agriculture 489, a senior job search seminar.

Carol Wells received the newly established Teaching Assistant Award from the Agricultural Advisory Board. Well is the TA for a computer applications class. Her students nominated her for the award.

Graduating seniors: Did you receive a National Direct Student Loan while attending UNL? If so, you must attend an exit interview at the Nebraska Union Rostrum.

Interview times are Monday, 7 p.m.; Tuesday, noon; Wednesday, 10 a.m. and Thursday, 3 p.m.

Students: Return your LT&T phones the easy way.

- Take your leased phones to the Student Union (City Campus) April 27 through May 7.
- LT&T's booth will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday for your convenience.
- Returning your leased phone saves a charge for picking it up ($11 or $15).

Or, save an additional 25% by buying the phone you lease.

- Save an additional 25% off the purchase price of leased phones from April 27 through May 14. This is a savings of 65% to 80% off the regular retail price of new Starlite, Styleline and Standard Desk phones. Discounted prices are as low as $11.25.
- Just call LT&T's business office to make the arrangements.
- The charge for buying your leased phone will appear on your bill.
- You don't have to return your phone and next year, you won't have to pick one up.
