Cowboys, Huskers will battle for championship this weekend

By Stu Pospisil

A travelers' advisory for the Oklahoma State baseball team: beware of strong arms and swift feet in the Lincoln area this weekend as you travel the Road to Omaha.

That road, of course, leads to the College World Series in June. Oklahoma State has appeared in the CWS the past three seasons. Nebraska is seeking its first appearance.

Although both Nebraska and Oklahoma State have qualified for the Big Eight's post-season tournament, their four-game series Saturday and Sunday could decide the regular-season championship.

Depending on which poll you believe, 44-15 Nebraska is 10th (Collegiate Baseball magazine) or 11th (Baseball America magazine). Oklahoma State 45-10, is eighth and fifth, respectively.

Oklahoma State, after a sweep of Kansas, is tied with Oklahoma for the conference lead at 12-2. For either the Cowboys or the 14-3 Huskers to claim the regular-season title and the top seed in the post-season tournament, it must win one more game than the Sooners this weekend.

Oklahoma hosts Missouri in a four-game weekend series.

Cowboy Coach Gary Ward said he is anticipating the series with Nebraska.

"It'll be a fun weekend at Nebraska. We need that kind of road pressure right now with the tournament just around the corner," he said.

Oklahoma State's strength is hitting, with five regulars having higher averages than Nebraska's top hitter, Bill McGuire.

Sophomore sensation Pete Incaviglia leads the team in average (.394), home runs (20), hits (65) and runs batted in (69).

Gary Green, batting .444 in his 14 conference games, has a .392 average. Catcher Mike Day is at .374, with Billy Smith at .356 and second baseman Randy Whisler at .350.

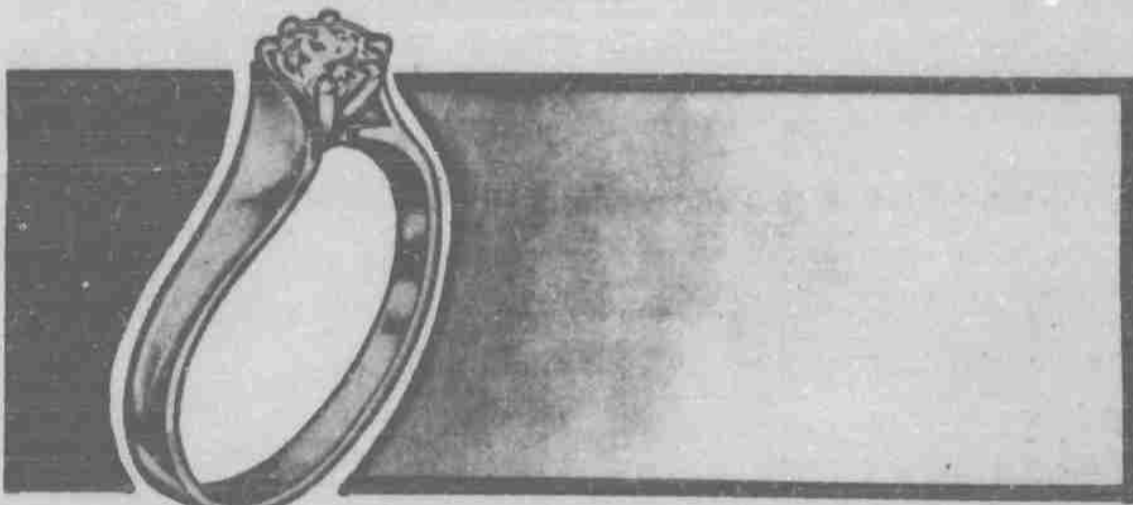

Junior outfielder Scott Wade, after a .351 season, has tailed off to .310, but has hit 10 home runs and stole 28 bases.

OSU pitching coach Tom Holliday was unsure of the Cowboys' rotation for Saturday and Sunday's double-headers. Five pitchers could receive the nod: Dennis Livingston (7-1), John Farrell (9-1), Mike Henneman (6-1), Mike Trapasso (5-1) and Gary Kanwisher (2-1).

According to Nebraska pitching coach Mike Evans, Jeff Anderson (8-3) and Phil Harrison (10-1) will start Saturday, with Jeff Koenigsman (5-1) and Chris Knust (3-3) starting Sunday.

"Nebraska is not a ball club that just sits back and plays," Ward said "They play hit-and-run baseball."

Notes: The Huskers' new locker room and office complex will be dedicated Saturday in pre-game ceremonies. Otto and Gladys Baumann, who donated much of the money for the complex, and Husker booster Alex Etting will be honored ... Sunday, Nebraska seniors will be honored prior to the 12:30 p.m. double-header ... First baseman Mike Duncan has raised his average from .259 to .303 in his last 17 games, including five homers and 22 RBI's ... Jeff Carter has gone on a triple binge, rapping six three-base hits in his last 17 games ... Husker Coach John Sanders, with three victories against the Cowboys, will post his 100th conference victory.

High school tennis players choose UNL

Two high school tennis players have signed letters-of-intent with UNL, men's tennis team Coach Kerry McDermott announced Wednesday.

Pat Carson, brother of current UNL star and Big Eight No. 5 singles champion Jim Carson, from Lincoln and Mike Marsh of Mission Viejo, Calif., will play for the Huskers next fall.

Carson, from Lincoln Pius X High School, finished his high school career this spring with a 99-5 record and as a state runner-up singles player the past two seasons. Carson currently is ranked No. 4 in the Boys 18s in the Missouri Valley region.

The tennis team will have an end-of-the-season banquet on the indoor track at the Bob Devaney Sports Center Friday at 6:30 p.m. The cost is $5.
