

Lincoln's bars offer drink, dance

Analysis by Mark Davis and Chris Welsch

One of the vaunted aspects of college life is drinking.

Be it bad or good, imbibing and dancing is as popular at UNL as it is anywhere else. Lincoln has just about any kind of bar one could want.

We've compiled a partial list of the more notorious spots to drink, talk, dance and numerous other verbs.

Barry's, 235 N. 9th St. A good place to go for some food and brew. Older crowd.

Barrymore's, 124 N. 13th St. A conversation bar with a lot of class.

Bill's Saloon, 1010 P St. An average working person's bar that is trying to attract a younger crowd with live music.

The Brass Hall, 1436 O St. Traditionally a Greek night spot. Has one of Lincoln's few beer gardens.

Chelsea's Pub, East Park Plaza. Similar to Chesterfield's except it's on the other side of town. Great selection of import beers. Drink your way around the world and get a prize.

Chesterfield, Bottomsley & Potts, 245 N. 14th. We were treated like royalty. Classic Dark is a specialty at this comfortable bar.

Dinsdales, 1230 P St. This bar has style, expensive drinks and an interesting "mystery" drink.

Doc Holidays, 56th and Cornhusker Highway. Doc Holidays is one of Lincoln's rare traditional "discos."

Duffy's, 1420 O St. People from all walks of life get souped here.

Harry's Wonder Bar, 1621 O St. Harry's is another working person's bar. Great jukebox. The "contemplation disk" in it is a must for star-crossed lovers and depressed others.

McGuffey's, 1042 P St. Nice place for conversation and booze.

O'Rourke's, 121 N. 14th St. Go Cubs. They're always tuned into the game unless Mary is there. But don't ask her to give you a fast pitcher. Feels like home.

Oscars, 819 O St. Fabulous beer garden. 32-ounce beer is a great bargain.

P. O. Pears, 3222 S. 9th St. Longneck night is great. Reputed to be a "meat market." Nice decorations and plenty of room.

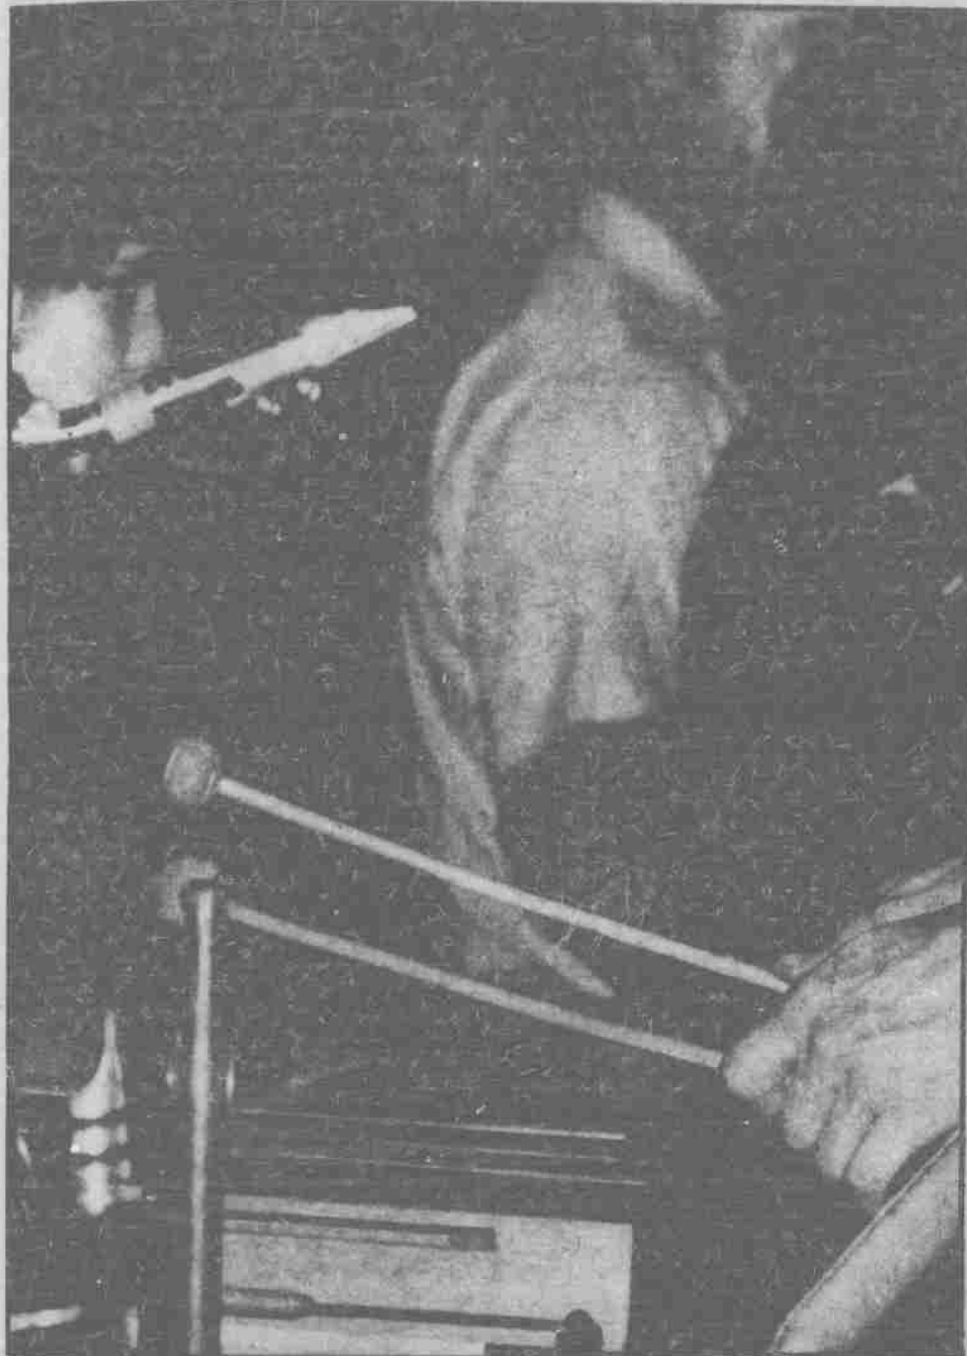

Sandy's, 1348 O St. Friday afternoon specials are hard to beat and it's an easy place to win at pool. Incredible lines on Friday afternoons.

The Sidetrack, Seventh and P streets. Trivia contests on Tuesday nights. This is a piano bar, and everybody sings. Joyce Durand is the singing proprietress, and she often is accompanied by a bad bassist. This is sort of a cult bar — it has a lot of regular customers. Durand can sing any song, and it's a guaranteed good time. Try the "Upside-down Margarita." Really swings after football games.

Stooges, 826 P St. Home of the "fers" — you name a number, they've got it. Top 40 discotheque.

Sweep Left, 815 O St. Where quiche is spelled with a K and Go Big Red is a way of life.

Zoo Bar, 136 N. 14th, Lot's of sweat, music and fun.
