

Sports Illustrated selects Nebraska No. 2 behind Bruins

Sports Illustrated's annual college and pro football issue hit the stands last week with the prediction that Nebraska's football fortunes will be exactly the same as last season.

The magazine has the Huskers winning the Big eight and finishing second in the national polls. The only loss should come in September when the Huskers play the magazine's No. 1 team, the UCLA Bruins.

"Don't expect the 84-13 and 72-29 wins that peppered the Husker record last year, but look for a few 28-0s," the magazine's story on the Huskers said.

Nebraska and the Big Eight get a considerable amount of attention in the magazine. The Huskers' six starting walk-ons are pictured in a feature on the walk-on program success. The story also includes pieces on Missouri's Marlon Adler and Phil Greenfield, Kansas State's David Ast and Oklahoma State's Matt Monger. Mike Rozier is featured in a story on Coffeyville, Kansas Junior College, and 91-year-old Lourene Wishart is the first profile in a series on college fans. Wishart hasn't missed a Nebraska home football game in 61 years.

Pittsburgh, Auburn, Ohio State, Iowa, Clemson, SMU, Texas and Notre Dame follow UCLA and Nebraska in the magazine's ratings. Oklahoma is ranked 16th, Oklahoma State, 20th and Missouri is given an honorable mention.
