Jayhawks to restock cupboard-bare corps

University of Kansas football coach Mike Gottfried has his work cut out for him.

Gottfried must replace several key players from last season's 4-6-1 squad, which tied with Colorado for sixth in the Big Eight.

Big Eight Previews

The Jayhawks record-setting offense has been devastated by graduation. Voids left by career leading passer Frank Seurer, All-American kicker Bruce Kallmeyer, and four offensive linemen must be filled if the Jayhawks hope to escape the Big Eight cellar.

Only three offensive starters, junior tailback Robert Mimbs, senior tight end Sylvester Byrd, and senior center Bennie Simecka, return this fall.

Gottfried hopes to have a solid replacement for Seurer in junior college transfer Mike Norseth.

Norseth, who threw for 2,639 yards at Snow Junior College in Ephraim, Utah, is the leading candidate for the quarterback position after an impressive spring.

Norseth was expected to fill the shoes of former Snow product David Archer at Iowa State, but was convinced the Jayhawk's offensive system would benefit him more.

On the receiving end of Norseth's aeriels will be receivers Richard Estell, Sandy McGee and Skip Peete. Estell caught 22 passes last fall, including a 57-yarder against Nebraska. McGee had 20 receptions in 1983 — two for touchdowns. Peete redshirted the '83 season after transferring from Arizona.

Lettermen Quinton Schonewise, Chip Schuler and Paul Oswald will battle newcomers Doug Certain, Jim Davis and Bob Pieper for starting roles in the offensive line.

Although the offensive side of the Jayhawks appears gloomy, the defense has a few bright spots.

All-Big Eight linebacker Willie Pless returns after leading the conference in tackles. Pless had 80 unassisted stops and 108 assisted tackles in 1983.

Darnell Williams, an all-conference honorable mention linebacker, had 147 tackles in his freshman year. Williams ranked second in the league behind Pless in total tackles.

Gottfried is high on his pair of young linebackers.

"They're as good as any linebackers in the conference, if not the country," Gottfried told the Big Eight Skywriters Friday when they stopped in Lawrence.

Kansas, which is on NCAA probation because of the recruiting tactics of Don Fambrough's staff, has been unable to recruit the "blue chip" athletes this year. Instead, the Jayhawks have relied mainly on junior college transfers to fill starting roles.

The Jayhawks host Wichita State Sept. 8 before embarking on a demanding schedule. Kansas plays Florida State, Iowa State and Big Eight powers Oklahoma and Nebraska at home and meets Vanderbilt, North Carolina, Kansas State, Oklahoma State and Colorado on the road.

Kansas ends the regular season on Nov. 17 against the Missouri Tigers in Columbia, Mis. Kansas upset the Holiday Bowl-bound Tigers last year, 37-27, in Lawrence, Kan.

Gottfried's rebuilding program will not be an overnight success. It will require some time.

Ticket applications still accepted

UNL students have only two days left to apply for 1984 season football tickets through the UNL Athletic Ticket Office.

The office, in South Stadium, will be open from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday and Tuesday to accept application cards that are available at the ticket office, the student's account office in Administration 204 and the main desk of the East Union.

Jean Walcott, clerical assistant of the athletic ticket office, said a steady flow of ticket applications came in last week.

"Freshmen were sent applications last spring, so we've received a good many of them," she said.

The tickets are $42 each for students. Students who want to buy a ticket for a non-student spouse also will have to pay a $90 regular charge for the extra ticket.

"We've had some confusion about that in the past, when some people thought they could just pay the $84 (last year's price), for two tickets," Walcott said.

A full-time student should have no problem getting a ticket, but registration will be checked as usual for each ticket applicant.

A student who is registered for less than 12 hours (undergraduate), or nine hours (graduate) may apply for a ticket now, but he or she must be registered as a full-time student in order to pick up the tickets beginning Sept. 4.

Walcott said the early application deadline date is set in order to check ticket applications with the university's records.

Each application must be paid for in the proper amount, either by check or cash.

"That's one thing we can't emphasize enough," Walcott said. "We're not the bank. We just cannot make change for all those students."

Tickets may be picked up by both fall and spring applicants Sept. 4 through Sept. 7 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the ticket office. Married students must show a marriage certificate or certified copy to pick up the spouse's ticket, and students who were part-time must show a validated full-time registration.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The ticket application story on Page 2 of the sports section in Wednesday's Daily Nebraskan incorrectly said that this Tuesday was the only day to turn in ticket applications. Applications have been accepted since last spring. The Daily Nebraskan regrets the error.
