Golfers . . .

 The Huskers open their 1984 campaign on Sept. 17 at the Oklahoma City Invitational, a three-day tourney sponsored by Oklahoma City College.
 Hughett has set a personal goal of making the all-Big Eight team and said Nebraska could finish in one of the top two conference slots. Hughett said consistency will be the key to a successful season.

 "We have to play consistent all year and peak at the end," Hughett said.
 The Big Eight race could be a tight one this year with Missouri, Colorado and Nebraska competing with the Oklahoma schools for the championship.

 Schuchart said the Big Eight is one of the top golf conferences in the nation.
 "Every year three or four teams from the Big Eight qualify for the nationals," Schuchart said. "And three teams usually finish in the top ten. That's not bad for a conference with only eight schools."
