Business fraternity accepts members

Delta Sigma Pi, a UNL business fraternity, currently is accepting applications for new members. Students interested in joining must have at least a 2.5 grade point average, be in good standing with the department and have at least three semesters left in the business college.

"We keep our members updated on what's happening in the business department and the whole university," Kozal said.

Interested students should apply before noon Friday at the booth in the College of Business Administration. Pledges will be invited to tour Land and Sky waterbed company at 2 p.m. to get a general view of basic business procedures.

The group will have a picnic in Antelope Park Sunday.

The Lincoln chapter will be the host of a regional conference in Omaha Oct. 20.

The UNL club's first formal meeting will include a slide presentation and question seminar at 7 p.m. Monday in the Nebraska Union.

Ferraro faces new fire on financial information

WASHINGTON — The House Ethics Committee Wednesday unanimously voted to investigate allegations that Democratic vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro violated House rules on financial disclosure.

The charges against the New York congresswoman were made by the Washington Legal Foundation, a conservative group. The foundation alleges Ferraro failed to disclose financial information about her husband, real estate developer John Zaccaro, in statements which are required to be filed by all House members.

Ferraro made public both her and her husband's income tax returns last month. The foundation alleges that Ferraro claimed exemptions that she was not entitled to since taking up her House seat in 1979. The Ethics Committee, which has six Democrats and six Republicans, voted 12-0 at a closed meeting in favor of the investigation.

A committee member said the inquiry amounted to a preliminary investigation on a par with a grand jury probe. He said the panel made no preliminary judgment on Ferraro's guilt or innocence when it decided to investigate her financial disclosure statements. The investigation is to begin immediately. The committee did not say if the probe would be finished before the Nov. 6 presidential election. Ferraro said she would cooperate fully.

House aid bill matches Reagan's

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives Appropriations Committee Wednesday unanimously approved a $17.8 billion U.S. foreign aid bill for 1985 that differed little from President Reagan's budget proposal. The measure cut Reagan's aid request for Turkey, shifted the Philippine package to stress economic rather than military assistance and boosted aid levels for Israel and Egypt. It also provided $121.7 million in military aid for El Salvador, only about $10 million less than Reagan sought.

"For the first time in several years this bill is relatively non-controversial," said Maryland Democrat Clarence Long, who chairs the foreign aid subcommittee. Over Long's objections, the panel voted 24-17 to add $320 million for the multilateral development banks, which provide loans to the world's poorer countries. The committee adopted by voice vote an amendment directing U.S. delegates to the multilateral banks to oppose projects which would strengthen other countries' textile manufacturing capability.

Poll: Mondale trailing Reagan

WASHINGTON — A second opinion poll in as many days Wednesday confirmed President Reagan was consolidating a comfortable lead over Democratic rival Walter Mondale in the presidential election race. A joint ABC television/Washington Post survey reported Reagan in front by 56 percent to 40 percent. This is the biggest margin Reagan has had since Mondale entered the White House race 18 months ago. The sample of 1,500 registered voters showed Reagan was preferred in all parts of the country and was particularly strong in the Midwest.

Sales tax planned, Mondale says

PEORIA, Ill. — Walter Mondale, in a fiery attack on President Reagan, Wednesday charged that Reagan planned to institute a national sales tax. Mondale savaged Reagan for not spelling out his plans to reduce the federal budget deficit and said that if voters knew the president's plans they would not vote for him.

Reagan says he won't raise income taxes because he plans to use a national sales tax, Mondale said. In his speech, Mondale continually contrasted his plan to raise income taxes with the effects a national sales tax would have on all Americans.

Smith held for Belushi murder

TORONTO — A Toronto woman Wednesday was ordered extradited to California to stand trial on a charge of murder by drug overdose of comedian John Belushi. Cathy Evelyn Smith, 37, is being held in custody for 15 days under terms of the extradition order delivered by County Court Judge Stephen Borins. Smith's lawyer, Brian Greenspan, said he would soon decide whether to appeal. Smith knew the extradition "was a strong possibility," he said. Borins ruled that the applicant in the extradition hearing, the State of California, had established a prima facie case for the murder charge and 13 drug-related charges.

But Greenspan had argued during last month's hearing no evidence existed that Smith had injected or administered heroin or cocaine to Belushi during a five-day Los Angeles party that ended with Belushi's death on March 5, 1982. A highly publicized story in the National Enquirer, a tabloid newspaper, quoted Smith as saying she injected Belushi with drugs. Crown attorney Ari Coomaraswamy said during the hearing that the newspaper story quoted Smith as calling herself "Florence Nightingale with a hypodermic" and said she supplied the heroin while Belushi supplied the cocaine. Greenspan had also argued that Smith could not be extradited because she would not have been charged with murder in Canada.
