How can the individual possibly feel significant when confronted with the infinity of the cosmos? "Child of the Universe," the next program at Mueller Planetarium, attempts to answer this question through the medium of the multi-media planetarium experience. Many have said that the beauty of "Child," like nature, lies in its complexity.

"Child of the Universe" was written and directed by Jack F. Horkheimer at the Miami Space Transit Planetarium.

Beginning March 23, "Child" will be presented through May 3, Saturdays at 2:30 p.m. and Sundays at 2:30 and 3:45 p.m.

A nominal admission is charge. "Child of the Universe" lasts approximately 40 minutes. Children under 5 are not admitted to the Planetarium. Ralph Mueller Planetarium is at 14th and U streets in Morrill Hall.

Setting it Straight

Pat Sullivan is the graduate student sculptor whose display is currently showing in the Art League Gallery, Richards Hall, Room 205. His name was incorrect in a cutline in Wednesday's Daily Nebraskan.
