

Floyd show has chills, thrills

LASER from Page 11

On Halloween, the planetarium will give a laser show set to Pink Floyd's "Darkside of the Moon".

According to Dunn, the show has been a favorite in the past and he hopes the showings will be filled with revelers in costume.

With its lasers, the creative designs that make M. C. Escher look like a doodler, the slides, stencils and a sound system that would make fingernails going down a chalkboard sound heavenly, this show is a must-see.

Even a died-in-the-wool technophobe like myself was entranced and fascinated.

You can catch the show Friday and Saturday nights at 8:15, 9:30 and 10:45 for $3.

If you just can't stomach an hour of Rush and Heart check out Laser Rhapsody Friday at 7 p.m., Saturday at 3:45 p.m. (11 a.m. on football Saturdays) and 7 p.m. and Sunday at 3:45 p.m.

Laser Rhapsody features the music of Mannheim Steamroller, Tchaikovsky, Dire Straits and Crosby, Stills and Nash.

Art Gallery takes over student thesis displays

By Laura Hansen
Staff Reporter

UNL is home to a new art gallery. Faculty have wanted The Art Gallery, Richards Hall 102 for several years, said Douglas Ross, professor of art and director of the gallery.

Ross said Sheldon Art Gallery made the new gallery possible when it decided to halt its spring displays of student art and theses. The new gallery now displays these show and others.

Ross said he wants to have a wide range of show in the Art Gallery.

"Nebraska is isolated in the visual arts — my intention is to bring as much variety as possible," he said.

Ross said beginning the project was expensive because it started from scratch. All the security guards are work-study students, so most expenses are incurred through shipping, announcing new shows and setting up, Ross said. Grants and donations pay for most of these costs, he said.

Ross said goals for the new gallery include sponsoring talks by artists and offering slide shows. But, Ross said, the primary goal of the gallery is to educate.

The show on display now is "Minnesota/Nebraska Artists." Ross said the show contains only works by former UNL students who now live in Minnesota. The show includes photographs of sculptures by Andrew Leicaster and works by artists Lee Dollison and Bernard McNally. Next year, an exhibit of Illinois/Nebraskan artists is planned, and, in 1987, a Missouri/Nebraskan exhibition is planned, Ross said.

Besides these exhibitions, the Gallery also wants to have monthly shows, Ross said. This year's schedule:

- October: Diana Schoenfeld's photographs.
- November: Display of first and second-year UNL graduate art students.
- December: Thesis exhibitions of third-year graduate students.
- January: Rafael Ferrer's display.
- February: Photospivia, a competitive photography show, and Margo Humphrey a visiting artist.
- March: S.P.E. Midwest Photography Survey.
- April: Thesis exhibitions.

The Art Gallery is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. It is closed Friday.

Diana Schoenfeld's photographs will be on display Monday through Oct. 31. These photographs are the artist's attempt to describe a wave of invisible aftershocks created by serious head injuries.

Oak Ridge Boys, Rogers, Brown to play in Omaha

A triple treat will greet music fans Oct. 30 at 8 p.m. at the Omaha Civic Auditorium — a concert with Kenny Rogers, the Oak Ridge Boys and Sawyer Brown.

Tickets for the concert are $17.75 and $15.75 and are on sale at the auditorium, Brandeis and TIX outlets.

Rogers has chalked up an enormous list of hits, including "Lucille," "The Gambler" and a recent duet with Dolly Parton, "Islands in the Stream."
