Columnist Harrah spoke with mocking hatred

In response to the column 'T.V. preachers save money, not souls,' (Daily Nebraskan, Nov. 1), I think it's necessary that some sort of discernment be made upon the attitude that was being expressed.

It's certainly one of the unnoticed outrages of today, this "Christian Television Propaganda." Never on the face of the earth has something so subtly wicked passed for being so good. Indeed, I agree that it is not the Spirit of Jesus who cries out for money, but unbroken men and women who haven't received the "Love for the Truth." (2 Thessalonians 2:9-11).

But my response is not to the words of the article itself, but to the spirit that dictated the article. One must first realize that this issue is only a fulfillment of Scriptures (2 Timothy 3:1-5, 2 Corinthians 11:13-15, Matthew 7), and that all the Scriptures will be fulfilled, for God's word is real. The discernment that has been revealed is that the writer did not possess Christian love, but mocking hatred.

The un-make-believe character, Satan, has taken a world of godless men and women and created a hierarchial system of mockery, which is just a laughing manifestation of pride. The mockery of fraternities-dormies, liberals, politicians, rich and the poor, etc., all stem from unbroken people who feel comfortable in making judgments about each other, while they themselves (leading comparable lifestyles) can't or won't receive the same "disdainful" judgement upon themselves. Thus allowing pride to deny the sight of sin's deceitfulness in one's own life.

To God, it doesn't matter what kind of package your sin comes in, it all needs to be repented.

So why mock the speck in your fellow man's eye, while not seeing the log within your own?

Recognize own faults before judging others' faults

We are writing in response to Scott Harrah's article on "TV Preacher's save money, not souls" (Daily Nebraskan, Nov. 1). We realize that it is impossible to completely clarify in a short editorial all the truth relating to this subject, but we would like to bring out a couple of points.

First of all, it is clear from God's inspired word that He desires for each of us to use the gifts and talents which He has given us to bring others to know the love and forgiveness that has been granted to us through the sacrifice of

His son Jesus Christ. It is also apparent that Jesus clearly disagreed with the ways of the most "religious" people ever to walk the earth (the Pharisees and Scribes).

An example of His attitude toward these people is found in Matthew 23.

Our objective is not to agree or disagree with the methods of evangelism that these people have, but rather to question the perspective and motives of those who stand in complete opposition to their teachings.

In Matthew 7:1-5, Jesus makes clear to us the importance of recognizing our own shortcomings and blindness before judging the weaknesses of others. It is also clear that Christ's purpose wasn't to judge (John 3:16, 17, also in John 8 in the case of the adulteress), but instead, His purpose was to do the will of God the Father, even though His judgment would have been completely true (John 8:16).

Finally, we want you to realize that though we can never totally understand all the ways in which the triune God works, it is essential that each individual realize that he/she will be held accountable before the throne of God only for his actions and decisions, not those of others.

Viola concert Wednesday at Kimball Hall

Harold Levin, a UNL assistant professor of viola, will give a viola recital at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Kimball Recital Hall.

In addition to his duties as assistant professor of viola, Levin is director of the New Music Ensemble of the School of Music. He is also conductor of the Lincoln Youth Symphony and performs with both the Nebraska Chamber Orchestra and the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra as well as various UNL faculty chamber groups.

Levin will play one of his own compositions, "Seven Pieces," in its version for viola and piano. He will also perform a sonata for solo viola written especially for him by Randall Snyder, UNL professor of theory and composition, and "Sonata in E Flat Major, Opus 120 No. 2" by Johannes Brahms.

William Carpenter will assist on piano.

In addition to his Nebraska performances, Levin has performed in concert in Evergreen, Colo. for the benefit of the Colorado Philharmonic Orchestra and in Pennsylvania at the Bedford Springs Festival.

This concert is open to the public and free of charge.
