

'Her Majesty' to bellow the blues

By Charles Lieurance
Senior Reporter

Koko Taylor, the Zoo Bar, 141 N. 14th St., Friday and Saturday, $5 cover.

Koko Taylor is the queen of blues. With her gravel-voiced distaff versions of great blues songs by Willie Dixon, Howling Wolf and Muddy Waters, Taylor has earned her crown.

Bar Review

From her origins as a gospel singer in a church choir in her hometown of Memphis, Tenn., through the rugged south side Chicago blues scene, to a Grammy Award in 1984 for Best Blues Record of the Year, Taylor has out-classed, out-bellowed and out-lasted any pretenders to the throne.

Taylor has performed with such blues luminaries as Waters, Wolf, Buddy Guy, Junior Wells and Magic Sam. In 1972, Taylor started her own group, The Blues Machine.

On her new LP, aptly titled "Queen of the Blues" Taylor assembled an all-star cast of royal partisans, including Son Seals, Albert Collins, James Cotton and Lonnie Brooks.

Of course, Taylor's real court is the blues nightclub, where she and The Blues Machine hammer out "Bartender Blues," Dixon's "Evil," Wolf's "Spoonful" and her biggest hit, "Wang Dang Doodle."
