Equipment cut from budget

BUDGET from Page 1

"The backlog's there," he said. "We can see it building and we're frustrated that we don't have the resources to deal with it."

Because of the budget cuts, Furgason said, UNL will not buy new equipment this year or replace broken-down equipment. Many UNL departments, he said, have been forced to abandon service contracts with repairmen to save

"They're essentially playing the odds, hoping that they won't break down," he

Purchases of basic office supplies also have been cut, which forces professors to pass on costs to students or pay for supplies from their own pockets.

Tuck said professors are making great use of copying services like Kinko's Copies that prepare packets for students to buy.

Clarice Lipe, manager of Kinko's downtown store at 1229 R St., would not comment on her store's business. Haack said NU has had to put off

The latest cuts, he said, mean that UNL probably would not repair a ceiling if it said. fell down.

"Eventually, it catches up with you,"

The recent spell of mild weather is helping UNL survive the cuts in its utility budget, Furgason said. But return members wonder if state government is of bad weather coupled with the opening of new buildings like Barkley Center on East Campus could put the university in worse financial shape, he Haack said a bill has been intro- preciated." duced in the Legislature to replace money cut from veterinary student contracts. Such deficit appropriations aren't unusual and normally pass, he said.

"The students are already in (the throw them out."

Tuck said that although academic James Bauer. programs so far have been spared, cuts in the operating budget hurt faculty eran Chapel, 1510 Q St.

many necessary repairs over the last morale as well. Professors have seen few years because of repeated mid-year their teaching effectiveness reduced or budget cuts and small regular budgets. research projects crippled because supplies and staff are not available, he

"It's like saying, 'Do you want a rifle or the ammunition to put in it?" " he said. "You've got tradeoffs all the way

Continual budget cuts make faculty committed to higher education, Tuck

"You just start adding these things together," he said, "and you get the idea that your abilities aren't ap-

An article titled, "Students Going

Beginners Course First meeting Learn Tae Kwon Do for Jan. 20 at Self-Defense - Self-Confidence Coliseum at 8:30 p.m. Meets every Monday, Wednesday 8:30-9:30 (night) Coliseum Stage For more information call 477-3883 or 476-0788 Instructors: Joo Lee & Brian Johnson

Setting it Straight schools)," he said. "We're not going to Back to Church," (Daily Nebraskan, Jan. 16), incorrectly identified Pastor

Bauer is campus pastor for the Luth-

Washington, king of big spenders

COHEN from Page 4

Washington. Every year now, the president has called for a balanced budget and then submitted one that's out of balance. Every year, the president and Congress have said that spending has to be curtailed and every year it isn't. The result has been the passage of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings. But as a draconian measure it is nothing compared to the jail term Jeffrey Levitt Levitt by taking their students on a faced and still he spent and spent. The field trip to a shopping mall. judge gave him 18 months.

For this reason, there ought to be statues of Jeffrey Levitt all over Washington — maybe one of him in a bathtub with faucets shaped like lion heads. to be a government office building every day is Jeffrey Levitt Day. named for him, a traffic circle, too, and Barring a successful appeal, Jeffrey Levitt will soon report to jail, a martyr to U.S. values run amock. He is to spending what Paul Bunyan is to logging and someday all Americans will He ought to be seen on horseback, a hat honor his birthday. In its characteristic and a pigeon on his head. There ought way, Washington already does. Here,

© 1986, Washington Post Writers Group every year schools would acknowledge Cohen writes an editorial column for the

- Dine In
- Take Out
- Free Delivery

475-5173

$2.00 off any large Pizza $1.00 off any medium Pizza

Expires Feb. 1, 1986

1601 P Street

475-5173

agency offers scholarship

Advertising Agency has started a com- UNL. petitive scholarship program for advertising students at UNL.

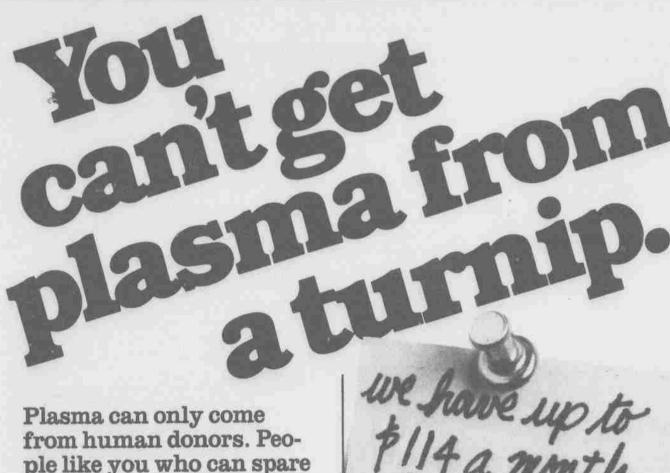

advertising professionals in the agency, ment.

The Nebraska-based Bailey Lewis Professional Lecturer in Journalism at oping and refining their skills.

Dean Copple said "a program like this not only provides our students Neale Copple, dean of the College of with the opportunity for much needed Journalism, said the advertising firm financial assistance, but will also foswill award a cash scholarship to the ter a healthy competitive spirit." He winner of an advertising competition said the advertising firm's program is each semester. The award will also especially welcome because of rapidly growinclude an opportunity to work with ingenrollment in the advertising depart-

Rich Bailey, chairman and chief The program will be coordinated for executive officer of Bailey Lewis, said ple like you who can spare a few hours a week to make over $110 a month, while helping others who rely on plasma products. Each donation takes only about an hour and a half. time you can spend reading or studying. Just look at the example chart to see how easily you can fit this rewarding opportunity into your schedule.

WEEK	1	2	3	4
1st visit in a calendar week	*10	*10	°10	*10
2nd visit in a calendar week	*15	*15	*15	*15
New Donor Bonus	82	-	-	-
Donor Referral	*3	$3	*3	83
Weekly Totals	*30	*28	*28	*28

Example amount you can earn in each calendar month $114

Then call for an appointment and you'll even get an extra bonus on your first visit!

university plasma center

Associated Bioscience of Nebraska, Inc. 1442 O Street Lincoln, Nebraska 68508 Phone 475-8645

