'Obscene' plates may be recalled; committee formed

By Merry Hayes
Staff Reporter

The Nebraska Department of Motor Vehicles will form a prestige plate review committee to decide which plates are obscene or objectional.

The committee will be selected this week.

Of the 9,331 prestige plates issued since Dec. 31, 1985, thirteen have been recalled.

The 169 prestige plates owned by UNL students range from displays of the owner's name or initials to descriptions such as "SO COOL," "H2O SKI," and "LUDE 2."

If any of the plates are deemed obscene or objectionable by the review committee, the owners can attend a June 1 meeting to explain why they want their plate.

The recent controversy began when one man refused to relinquish his "RED PIG" plate. Ken Frerichs, president of the state bank of Hildreth, Nebr., said he would not return his plate until officials proved to him that "RED PIG" was obscene.

"We are required to screen out plates that are obscene or objectionable," said Holly Jensen, Director of the NDMV. "We're doing this to make sure we have a good system and we aren't offending anybody."

"But quite frankly, it's a no-win situation. It's a gray area. What's objectionable to one person may not be objectionable to another," she said.

To ensure fairness, the review committee will represent a cross-section of Nebraskans. The seven-member committee will include a law enforcement officer, a journalist, a citizen-at-large, an English professor, a legislator, a sociologist and a clergy member.

"We are receiving letters every day (from applicants)," Jensen said.

After the committee members are chosen, they will review all the prestige plates in Nebraska and decide which are obscene or objectionable.

Plates with more than three numerals or two or more characters that are so similar they can confuse police officers also will be recalled.

After the initial recall review on June 1, the committee will continue to review plates by request, Jensen said.

President of gay group raps conduct

Bell said the scenario depicted in the letter is accurate.

Although he did not specifically name Love Library, Bell said sexual misbehavior in restrooms "goes on across the state" and is the result of gay and heterosexual people trying to meet others while hiding their sexual orientation.

He said he discourages such conduct at GLSA meetings because it gives the community a negative view of gays.

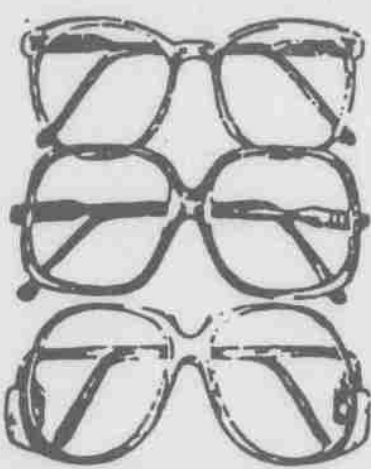

"It's more than an improper way to meet people, it makes it more likely to spread AIDS," Bell said.

Bell said he encourages people to find alternate ways to meet people that are "safer, cleaner and a lot healthier."

The only solution to the problem would be a change in society's attitude toward gay people, Bell said.
