

St. Patrick's Day recipe: Drink some green beers and kiss the blarney stone

By Diana Johnson
Senior Reporter

A little luck of the Irish and a buck or two will get you a taste of Ireland at some of Lincoln's bars today.

In honor of St. Patrick's Day, P.O. Pear's, 322 S. 9th St., is serving corned beef and cabbage sandwiches. Green beer will be sold for $2.59 a pitcher and Jameson Irish Whiskey for $1.29 a shot, said assistant manager Ray Noffsinger.

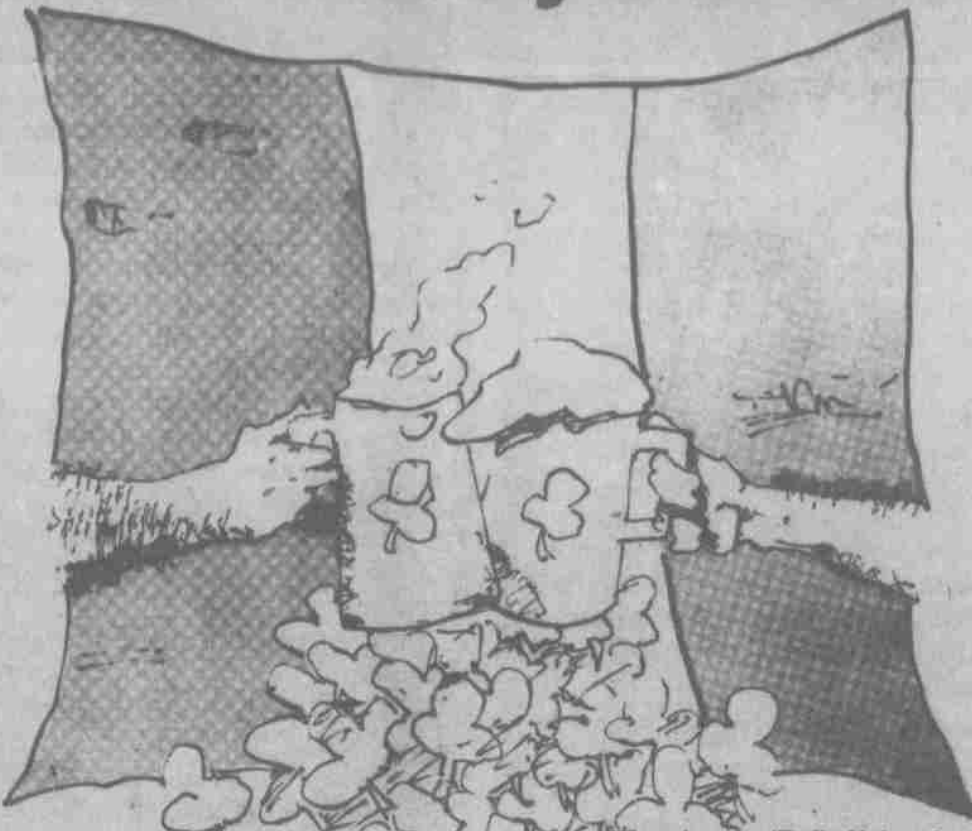

Noffsinger suggests that patrons wear green clothes. "If you don't wear green, I hear you get pinched," he said.

Other bars also are including Irish drink specials during their regular Monday happy hours.

The Zoo Bar, 136 N. 14th St., will host its "Standard Monday Party" from 7 to 11 p.m. with Irish beers and whiskeys, said owner, Larry Boehmer.

The Rose, also known as the "Irish Pub," 200 N. 70th St., will have happy hour from 4 to 7 p.m. It will feature green beer for $1 and yard beers, said Donita Davenport, manager.

Celebration, 1033 O St., Suite 10, will serve Irish delicacies, including Irish coffee and Killian's Irish Red Beer from Colorado for $1.

Tom Lauder/Daily Nebraskan

Celebration also will give the person who guesses the correct weight of a blarney stone a free round-trip for two to Ireland.

Festivities at Chesterfield's, 245 N. 13, may lack Irish authenticity, said general manager, Alan Beer, but "there's going to be a big party."

Mother's Big Band Jazz will perform tonight from 7 to 11 p.m. at Chesterfield's.

Dollar drink specials include shots of Jameson Irish Whiskey, Bailey's Irish Cream, Seagram's wine coolers and all import beers in stock.

Computer center makes improvements

By Jodi Finch
Staff Reporter

UNL's computer resource center is growing by leaps and bounds.

A few years ago, the center was almost non-existent, said Doug Gale, director of the center, but since remodeling has begun, he said the staff has grown from zero to 22 members and the number of available terminals has increased by 800 percent.

The center has added air conditioning to make the center more comfortable for both student and machine, Gale said.

Besides the remodeling, several new centers are being placed on campus, he said, and more spaces are under consideration.

The proposed budget cuts pose some problems for the growth of the center, Gale said.

Any student who has a legitimate need may use the centers. But students must have an account or access number to get onto the computers.

Students can obtain account applications at any of the centers, which are located in residence halls, Nebraska Union and in some classrooms.

The account form must be filled out, signed by a faculty member and then mailed to the address printed on the form. The applicant will be sent back an access number free of charge, Gale said.

The Centers' hours correspond to the hours of the building the computers are housed in. But, Gale said, there may not always be a staff member available to help students because of budget cuts.
