

Jayhawks still aim high

By Kent Endacott
Staff Reporter

Despite a change of command, The Kansas "Air Force" is expected to stick to its proven plan of attack.

First-year Kansas football coach Bob Valesente, who served as the Jayhawk's offensive coordinator, will keep Kansas' wide-open offense intact.

"The system hasn't changed much," Valesente said. "Hopefully, we'll be able to get better every week. We don't have a lot of depth, so we need to stay away from injuries."

On offense, Kansas returns five starters, but has been troubled by injuries this fall. Offensive lineman Bob Pieper, mentioned as a candidate for post-season honors, suffered a broken foot in the first practice of fall camp, and starting tackle Jim Davis suffered a pinched nerve in his neck. Pieper is expected to miss at least the first two games.

To add depth to the offensive line, Valesente has moved Steve Nave, who started at defensive tackle last season, to offensive guard this fall.

"He's made the adjustment for us, and he's making good progress," Valesente said of Nave. Nave is the strongest Jayhawk, with a 435-pound bench press.

At the running back spot, Arnold Snell, a 6-0, 200-pound sophomore from Mount Vernon, N.J., has emerged as starting tailback. The Jayhawks are expected to use a one-back offense most of this season.

Mike Orth, a 6-5, 205-pound senior, will start at quarterback.

"Mike has been crisp in workouts," Valesente said. "He's throwing the ball very well. We should be able to move the ball offensively."

The defense returns 23 lettermen and should be the strength of the Kansas team, Valesente said. All-Big Eight tackle Phil Porter and Eldridge Avery should give Kansas the best defensive line since the mid '70s.

"Our front is really strong and has played well together this fall," he said. "The defense is going to be the strength of our team. We should be more experienced on defense."

The secondary should be improved, with juniors Milt Garner and Mike Fischer and seniors Wayne Ziegler and Jamey Steinhauser comprising the starting unit.

"We have more depth in our secondary than we had the last two years," Valesente said. "They should be able to concentrate on stopping the passing attack because of all the strength up front."
