Earthquake in El Salvador

300 dead, thousands injured

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — Rescuers aided by tracking dogs dug into collapsed buildings for a second day Sunday, looking for more survivors of an earthquake that killed hundreds of people and injured thousands in the capital.

"It is impossible to say how many more are trapped," said Dr. Antonio Silva Carranza, a member of a volunteer Guatemala rescue squad.

Rescuers pulled at least 24 survivors from two wrecked buildings Saturday and worked through the night under the glare of lights in hopes of finding others. Aftershocks from Friday's quake continued to rock the city.

There was no official casualty count. The International Red Cross said in Geneva on Sunday that 350 people were killed and 6,800 injured, with 600 requiring hospitalization. It said about 30 people were still trapped under debris.

President Jose Napoleon Durate said Saturday that at least 300 people were killed, 6,500 injured and many more believed trapped in the rubble.

The Red Cross said the homes of about 40,000 families were damaged, and that 20,000 people were left homeless.

The organization said immediate medical needs have been met and no epidemics are feared. It said electricity has been restored to about 60 percent of San Salvador, the capital.

In Brief

Disney World alligator attack

ORLANDO, Fla. — An 8-year-old boy attacked by an alligator at a Walt Disney World campground was in satisfactory condition Sunday with a cut leg.

Paul Santamaria of Bristol, N.H. was attacked Friday when "He squatted on the edge of the pond or a canal among the ducks," said Lt. Vinard Hitt of the Florida game commission. "The 'gator came out of the water at that point and bit him on the left leg."

The 7-foot, 4-inch female reptile was later shot by game commission agents, The Orlando Sentinel reported Sunday.

Disney spokesman Bob Mervine said that as far as he knows it was the first such attack at the sprawling theme park.

Mother Teresa's plane kills five

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania — Mother Teresa said her visit to Tanzania was partly to blame for the deaths of five people, killed when her plane plowed into a crowd of well-wishers.

A plane carrying to Nobel Peace Prize winner, a second passenger and the pilot veered into the crowd in an aborted takeoff Saturday. A nun, two boys and two men were killed and two nuns were slightly injured.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation.

Summit ends without agreements to curb nuclear weapons race

REYKJAVIK, Iceland — President Reagan's weekend summit with Mikhail Gorbachev ended Sunday without agreement to curb nuclear weapons when the United States refused to scuttle the "Star Wars" missile defense program. Reagan declared "this we could not and will not do."

The two leaders also failed to set a date for a third superpower meeting. Secretary of State George P. Shultz told reporters, and a high-ranking Soviet official called it a "dead-end."

Shultz said U.S. leaders were "deeply disappointed" in the outcome.

Reagan, talking to American military personnel at Keflavik Naval Air Base just before he boarded Air Force One for the nearly six-hour ride back to Washington, said the two sides had "moved toward agreement" on drastic reductions in intermediate-range weapons in Europe and Asia and on other issues.

But, the president said, "there remained at the end of our talks one area of disagreement . . . The Soviet Union insisted that we sign an agreement that would deny to me and to future presidents for 10 years the right to develop, test and deploy a defense against nuclear missiles for the people of the free world."

"This, we could not do," Reagan declared, to heavy applause.

"This is the dead end to which they have driven the whole issue of arms control," said Georgi Arbatov, a top Soviet adviser on East-West relations.

Asked whether there would be another summit meeting between President Reagan and Gorbachev, Arbatov said, "If the Americans do not change their position on this basic issue, I am afraid not."

Ortega says captured American to be tried soon

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — President Daniel Ortega says that an American captured after a rebel supply plane was shot down will be tried soon. But it still was not clear Sunday what charges would be filed against him.

Ortega angrily denounced what he called the "direct participation" of the U.S. government in aiding guerrillas fighting the Nicaraguan government.

Ortega later told reporters that Eugene Hasenfus, 45, of Marinette, Wis., will be tried soon in the People's Courts.

"In a very short time, I mean quickly, he will be sent to the appropriate courts to be judged," he said.

Other Sandinista officials have said Hasenfus could face up to 30 years in prison. The People's Courts were formed after the leftist Sandinist National Liberation Front came to power in July 1979, ending 42 years of government by the rightist, pro-American Somoza dynasty.

The president said documents found in the C-123's wreckage proved the U.S. role. "There are no doubts about the involvement of the United States in all these actions," Ortega said.

President Reagan and other officials have denied any U.S. government involvement in the flight.

But Ortega said U.S. officials "stimulate terrorist actions such as this, but when people die they do not take responsibility for the action. . . They just call them heroes."

Ortega said other Americans helping the insurgents, known as Contras, would end up in prison or be killed. The remains of the American pilot and co-pilot of the plane, who died in the crash, were sent home Friday.

"If the United States makes the mistake of invading Nicaragua, that is how American soldiers will end up — dead or prisoners of the Nicaraguan people," Ortega said.

Hasenfus was the first American taken prisoner in Nicaragua since U.S.-supported contra rebels began their fight four and a half years ago to overthrow the Sandinista government.

Hasenfus said Thursday he took part in 10 supply flights from El Salvador and Honduras for rebels inside Nicaragua and that the CIA was involved in the operation.

The Central Intelligence Agency armed and trained the Contras from 1981 to 1984, when Congress barred
