Swimmers start season

By Jeff Apel
Staff Reporter

Highlighted by an upset victory by sophomore Shawn Liston, the Nebraska women's swimming team successfully opened their 1986 season by competing in the Big Eight Invitational last weekend in Ames, Iowa.

Nebraska women's swimming coach Ray Huppert said he was pleased by the outcome of the meet because several of the younger members of the squad turned in highly regarded performances.

While Liston defeated defending Big Eight champion Marci Harold in the mile, freshman Lee Pennefather captured both the 500-meter freestyle and the 200-meter butterfly events.

Nebraska's Shauna Gilmore was also a double winner in the meet as she captured both the 100- and 200-meter freestyle. No team scoring was kept in the meet.

"We knew when we went into the meet we had a good team," Huppert said Sunday. "After seeing us compete, we feel we have a really good team."

Huppert said one area which concerned him throughout the two-day meet was the level of anxiety displayed by some of the Cornhuskers' younger swimmers.

Because it was their first meet at the collegiate level, Huppert said, some of Nebraska's freshmen were extremely nervous before they swam.

"They don't need to dwell mentally before they swim," Huppert said. "If they do, they might drain themselves."

Huppert said from what he saw of the three remaining Big Eight schools competing in the meet, his early expectations of a tough race for the conference crown were realized.

Iowa State and Missouri both showed improvement over last year, while Huppert said Kansas displayed enough overall talent to show they are going to once again be the top challenger to Nebraska.

"Kansas looked good. They've got a good team," Huppert said. "They have a lot of talent."

Nebraska's men's swimming team also competed at the Big Eight Invite this weekend and was led by a couple of record-setting performances.

In the 200-meter backstroke, Ed Jowdy broke the old record while winning the event. Jowdy added a second-place finish in the 100-meter backstroke.

In the 200-meter breaststroke, Sean Frampton won the event in record-setting fashion, and added a victory in the 100-meter breaststroke.

Other first-place finishers for Nebraska were Jaco Kruger in the 500-meter freestyle, Mike Irvin in the 200-meter individual medley, as well as a second-place finish in the 400-meter individual medley.

Divers Wes Zimmerman and Eric Ognibene finished second and third respectively in the 1-meter and 3-meter diving.

Nebraska also claimed a victory in the 2200-meter freestyle relay.
