

ONLY 60 SEMESTER CREDIT HOURS NEEDED FOR OCS.

If you have 60 accredited semester hours, and can achieve a high score in a special aptitude test, you could be just 22 weeks from earning the gold bars of a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve. And ready to take on your first Reserve leadership assignment.

Qualify, and you'll attend an 8-week Basic Training Course, then go on to a 14-week Officer Candidate School (OCS) which will challenge you both mentally and physically. When you graduate, you'll receive your commission as an officer in the Army Reserve, and continue training in a branch Officer Basic Course. Then you'll return home to serve in a nearby Reserve unit—usually one weekend a month and two weeks annual training.

It's a great opportunity to gain the skills and begin the practice of the kind of leadership and management prized so highly by civilian employers.

You need not have completed your degree, just have 60 semester hours and a lot of ability and confidence, to qualify.

If you're interested in OCS, call:

ARMY RESERVE.
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

DN gossip column debuts

'Harrah's Hollywood' digs up the dirt at home and abroad

Editor's note: The following is the first in a series of weekly columns Harrah will write about the news that doesn't matter, the news that makes you ill and induces lawsuits. Call it what you will — gossip, dirt, fluff, b.s. Just when you thought you'd had enough of The Enquirer, Liz Smith, People and USA Today, along comes "Harrah's Hollywood," a weekly tribute to trash and the news you probably don't care about.

Blacks in Bedrock?

Will Wilma Flintstone be black or Vanna White? That's the question Hollywood casting directors are trying to answer about the new "Flintstones" movie, scheduled for release in 1988. Producer Rob Cohen decided to cast Shelly Long in the role, but some feel that Vanna or comedian Whoopi Goldberg would be better spouses for Fred, who will be played by Jim Beinschi. "Ain't there no blacks in Bedrock?" Goldberg said to Cohen. Pia's bad apple

Former critical pin cushion Pia Zadora proved that she's no longer a poor little rich girl when the Hollywood Women's Press Club gave her a Golden Apple Award for her acclaimed torch-singing debut at Carnegie Hall last spring. In 1982, the HWPC gave Zadora a Sour Apple Award for "believing her own publicity." Zadora's career was jinxed back then, forcing her to star in such trash wallows as "Butterfly" and

"The Lonely Lady," one of the worst films ever made. In the latter film, Zadora has a horrible childhood, is raped by thugs who molest her with a garden hose, then sleeps her way to the top and becomes a writer of "sensitive novels." The HWPC gave this year's Sour Apple to publicity-phobic Sean

Penn, the Material Girl's husband. Earlier this year a celebrity photographer challenged Penn to a boxing match, but he declined the offer. It looks like he's just a sensitive guy after all. But what can he do with a garden hose?

Annie, get your bra

Eurythmics vocalist Annie Lennox stripped on stage and flashed her breasts to a sold-out crowd of fans at a concert in England, according to the London Sun. Lennox will play a patriot in an upcoming film about the American Revolution.

Feminists, Monroe and Mailer

Women's lib guru Gloria Steinem recently told the Washington Post that glamour goddess Marilyn Monroe is "the woman who will not die."

The Post claims that Monroe, who is still a cult legend with a dedicated following, had plastic surgery and wore unequal heels to give her a sultry sway.

Outspoken writer Norman Mailer, who once penned a bestseller about Monroe, has feminists in an uproar because he feels that women have ruined the Democratic party, according to New Woman magazine.

"The Democratic party has had candidates throughout the last 12 years who were about as rousing as oatmeal," Mailer said in an interview. "And one of the reasons is that no man can rise in the Democratic party now who doesn't say 'women first.'" And they can probably write better than you, Normy.

Batman's not a sissy!

Former "Batman" star Adam West proved that those skimpy tights he used to wear squeezed something out of his brain when he appeared on the "Sally Jessy Raphael Show" recently. West affected an effeminate lisp and said he hates it when people refer to his old show as "camp" because the word has homosexual connotations. And prancing around in tights doesn't, Adam? What a drag, Batman.

Wonder's Oscar blunder

Soul legend Stevie Wonder may have his Oscar revoked for his song "I Just Called to Say I Love You," which won an award as "Best Song" from the film "The Woman in Red."

Wonder has reached out and touched a lawsuit because songwriters Lee Garrett and Lloyd Chiate claim he stole the song from them. Wonder proved in court that he had actually written the song several years ago, but he admitted that the mega-selling tune had not been composed expressly for the film's soundtrack, which is a no-no according to the Academy of Motion Picture Sciences.

Hollywood hack

Novelist Jackie Collins, Alexis' kid sister, recently told People magazine that she'll continue to dish dirt about the sleazy side of Tinseltown in a row of roman a cleftpotboilers modeled after her bestsellers "Hollywood Wives" and "Hollywood Husbands."

Collins told the magazine that she plans to write two more smut sagas titled "Hollywood Kids" and "Hollywood Lovers." However, she didn't say whether she'll write "Hollywood Hookers," "Hollywood Heroin Junkies" or "Hollywood Bag Ladies in Bondage." And to think that some people feel that there isn't an art to trash.

Reagan's pooch problem

First Lady Nancy Reagan told the Boston Globe that her dog Rex Reagan does not like to viciously bite her hubby. A rumor around Washington claimed that the dog liked to bite the president and make him bleed. "I don't know how that story got started," Mrs. Reagan told the Globe.

C'mon, Nancy, admit it. You'd bit the bum too if he tried to sell you to a Nicaraguan kennel for extra Contra cash. (Just kidding, Nance.)

Local dirt

Digital Sex keyboardist Maureen Evans-Hansen held a housewarming party in Omaha to celebrate her new residence and the surprising success of her band's compact disc "Essence and Charm." The band's latest recently went to the top of the charts in France and has received rave reviews from critics everywhere.

Former Lincoln comedian and DN humor columnist Craig Anton graduated in December and has left on a three-month tour of California. He's going to be missed around here.

Pick up your supplies and we'll supply the savings.

Spiral Notebook Imprinted
70 sheets, college ruled
Reg. Price $1.09

Sale Price
69¢

Spiral Notebooks
70 sheets, wide or narrow ruled
10 1/2"x8"

Sale Price
39¢
3 for $1

Filler Paper
200 sheets, college ruled
10 1/2"x8"

Sale Price
79¢

Swing Arm Lamp
A 100 watt, adjustable lamp with 4-way clamp, vented shade with spring balance. Available in 4 enamel finishes
Retail Price $19.95

Sale Price
$11.98

Carter Hi-Liter
Reg. price 75¢

Sale Price
49¢

School and Art Supplies on the Main Level.

More than ever,
more than a Bookstore.

Open Monday-Friday 8-5:30 Saturday 9-5:30

NEBRASKA BOOKSTORE

Union Bank Student Loans available on the upper level.

1300 Q Street

(402) 476-0111