NUdeal platform opposes alcohol, visitation policies

NUdeal candidates announced their plans to enter the ASUN election on both campuses in an attempt to reach out to more students, NUdeal presidential candidate Richard Burke said.

The clinking sound of silverware against plates and snatches of mumbled conversation could be heard Friday evening in the East Union cafeteria as Burke, Darrin Lindquist, first vice presidential candidate, and Darin Werkmeister, second vice presidential candidate, told students that NUdeal was trying to end under-representation of East Campus students.

Burke told students on City Campus Monday, "It's time somebody finally said, 'enough' to university budget cuts."

Lindquist outlined the NUdeal platform, which includes measures to make ASUN more representative of students by including senate seats for undeclared students, minorities and foreign students. The platform also called for representatives from the Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic and Residence Hall Association to be allowed senate positions.

NUdeal will work for a policy that would allow alcohol on campus, although it will be a tough goal to reach, Lindquist said.

"We feel that students of age should be allowed to drink single containers of alcohol where they live," Lindquist said. "Outside of their house or dorm rooms, an open-container law would apply which would be similar to open-container laws that apply for cars."

Lindquist said even if NUdeal's alcohol policy isn't implemented, they can make this goal more realistic in following years.

In their platform, NUdeal supported a student regent vote, elected student advisory boards for the engineering and journalism colleges, orientation programs for foreign and transfer students, and power for residence-hall floors to determine their own visitation hours.

NUdeal's platform also stated that candidates will be active in the downtown-renovation project and will work against videotaped classes. But issues on a platform are not the only reason to vote, Burke said.

"The point is that anyone can write a platform," Burke said. "And we're especially proud of ours. This year, though, look beyond the issues and focus on the type of leadership this university needs to start it back on the path of excellence."

that the station become independent after June 30.

Earlier this month, a 38-member board was formed to decide what course the station will take after it becomes independent.

Robert Nefsky, president of Lincoln Fine Arts Radio, Inc., the board considering KUCV's future, said that no formal decision has been made on NETC's offer.

"With independence the risks and burdens lie totally with the community," Nefsky said. "On the other hand, we lose our independence, but maybe there's a greater possibility it will be funded."

The station would be under the control of NETC. UNL, which operates the non-commercial KRNU campus station, would not be involved in the operation of the station.

KUCV may start new radio network

The Nebraska Educational Telecommunications Commission has formally backed a proposal that would allow the Nebraska ETV Network to acquire KUCV-FM public radio, an NETV official confirmed Friday.

Jack McBride, NETV general manager, said that the NETC, which along with NU licenses NETV, has advanced the acquisition proposal to the KUCV Board of Directors.

Under the plan, KUCV would serve as the flagship station of a statewide radio network. In 1985, the Nebraska Legislature passed a resolution allowing the NETC to establish such a network. No state funding was appropriated, however.

Union College, which has operated the station since 1968, has ordered

"IT IS VERY IMPORTANT FOR ME TO HAVE MY CONTACT LENSES FITTED PROPERLY."

Like most people, I'm on the go alot. I tried contact lenses a few years ago and was never really happy. Wearing contacts helped my vision but they became a hassle because of the mild discomfort and occasional fuzzy vision.

I asked several of my friends who wear contacts to recommend a specialist, and most of them recommended Dr. Powell at the International Contact Lens Clinic.

I went to their clinic for a no charge consultation to talk about new contact lenses. Their office offers complete contact lens services and complete optical services including:

- thorough examination, individual fitting, and close supervision
- curbside parking, convenient central Lincoln location
- appointments available lunch hours, and Saturdays
- eight week trial program for
 - close observation of comfort and eye health
 - lens strength or fitting modification if indicated
 - no charge for damaged lenses
- spare glasses, sunglasses and special solutions for sensitive eyes
- a continuing care program — future upgrading of contact lenses as scientific progress is made.

I decided to have them fit my eyes and I was very comfortable with their professional approach, their fees, and their thoroughness.

Everyone in their office helped me become a successful wearer. I consider their office outstanding and I recommended them to all my friends.
