Shooting for third

Bernard Day takes a jump shot over the head of Arkansas-Little Rock's Daron Hoges during Nebraska's 76-67 overtime win over the Trojans. The victory gave the Cornhuskers a third-place finish in the National Invitation Tournament held in New York last week.

Small crew team rows to 10th in Texas regatta

Despite the small size of the Nebraska rowing team, the Cornhuskers placed No. 10 in the Heart of Texas Regatta in Austin during spring break.

More than 1,000 rowers were at the regatta from 27 universities and clubs from across the country. Kansas won the regatta. The Jayhawks' team included 135 rowers, compared to Nebraska's 24. Nebraska's team was the smallest to finish in the top 10.

En route to their No. 10 finish, the Huskers defeated Kansas State, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State, which finished 11th, 12th and 13th. All three teams were twice the size of Nebraska's.

Nebraska teams placed in the finals. All of the Husker varsity boats placed overall.

In the women's open-four event, Nebraska finished third. Team members were coxswain Stacy Motez, Terrie Clement, Melissa Johnson, Sarah Staples and Cathy Sukup.

The Nebraska men's pair, Paul Larson and Steve Knapp, placed second in that event.

The mixed-four with two men and two women, also placed second.
