

Yearbook crusader needs a successor

By Lise Olsen
Associate News Editor

As Marcie Langenberg nears graduation her three-year struggle to revive the Cornhusker yearbook will end.

But work on the yearbook is nowhere near completed, and Langenberg, who for the last year has been the project's lone crusader, hopes she'll be able to find a determined and patient person to take her place.

Like many other proposed projects, the main barrier for the new Cornhusker has been money.

About $20,000 is needed to start up a new yearbook, Langenberg said. That would cover equipment, office space and salaries. The yearbook then would operate self-sufficiently and print only as many books as are ordered for each year, she said.

Langenberg, a former Residence Hall Association Executive Committee member, has worked by herself and with up to three other people for the last three years on the project. In that time, the Cornhusker received support in an alumni survey and in a 1985 ASUN referendum survey, in which a majority of students said they would support a 75-cent per-semester fee increase for a yearbook.

But fund requests for the yearbook were rejected by the Alumni Association, university administration, the All-University Fund and the NU Foundation.

And in the same period UNL has had four vice chancellors for student affairs. Each time the job changed hands the project was re-explained and re-approved, Langenberg said.

Despite all the discouragement and delay, Langenberg has maintained her enthusiasm for the project, and she hopes to pass that along to someone else.

Somebody's got to be darn dedicated to get this," she said. "It's kind of playing a timing game."

So far, an ad printed in last Friday's Daily Nebraskan drew only one response for her call for a yearbook committee.

UNL is the only Big Eight school without a universitywide yearbook, although UNL Greeks publish their own.

The Cornhusker yearbook ceased publication in 1972 because it continually lost money.

Langenberg said that if the Cornhusker is funded, a Greek section will be included. However, she said she expects Greeks to continue to publish a separate book for the first two or three years.

Anyone interested in the yearbook committee should call Marci Langenberg in the evenings at 472-0211 or leave a message at the Campus Activities and Programs office (CAP).

Phi Beta Kappa names 41 students to honorary

Forty-one UNL students selected this semester for membership in Phi Beta Kappa, the national liberal-arts honorary society, were initiated into the society last week.

The new Phi Beta Kappa members, hometowns and majors are:

Mark Ray Killman, a chemistry major from Beatrice;
Joel Robert Atchison, a biological sciences major from Cozad;
Mary Lynne Umberger, a speech communications major from Elwood;
Valerie Kay Roeder, a speech communications major from Fremont;
Clare Marie Tahde, a political science major from Grand Island;
Anne Elizabeth Moul, an elementary education major from Hastings;
Jonathan William Heusel, a biology major from Hooper;
Loi T. Vu, a biology major from Humboldt;
Sarah Louise Biehl, a psychology major from Lexington;
Nancy Lee Campbell, a mathematics major, Reed Alan Hindmand, a psychology major, Beth E. Kolb, an anthropology major, Patricia Kathleen Schank, mathematics and computer science major, David Gwoh Tao, biological sciences major, Mary Beth Trouba, a political science and speech communication major, all from Lincoln;
Douglas W. Martin, a biological sciences major from Louisville;
Katherine A. Kort, a computer science major from Milford;
Michael James Baacke, a computer science major from Minden;
John Albert Ehrenfried, a life sciences major from Norfolk;
Mark Ridder Young, a biological sciences major from North Platte;

Carey Eleanor Byrne, a psychology major, Rodney Thomas Caniglia, a biological sciences major, James Michael Cortese, a psychology and English major, Emad Eskandar, a chemistry major, Anita K. Finta, a psychology major, Mitchell J. Herbel, a chemistry major, Karen Louise Kramer, an English major, Richard Alan Kutilek, a biology major, Kevin Joseph McCoy, an economics and history major, Karen Marie Mockler, an English major, and Rebecca M. Sohl, a French and Spanish major, all from Omaha;

Shelly Rae Hurlbert, an English major, and Douglas Mark Weems, a history major from Ord;
David J. Hoeft, a biological sciences major from Oshkosh;
John E. Fritch, a speech communication major from Palmyra;
Deborah Ann Schutte, a life sciences major from Schuyler;
John David Meissner, a life sciences major from Sutherland;
Ann Lynn Mumm, a computer science and mathematics major from Wahoo;
Jonathan A. Stelling, a biological sciences major from Wakefield;
Adam A. Sarbin, a biology major from Richmond, Va.; and Lisa Renee DeLeon, a psychology and French major from Waterloo, Belgium.

Why work at the Daily Nebraskan?

For the money, fame, parties, free trips, and ... oh, yeah! To cover NU Sports."
—Chuck Green

"Pay ain't great but the reporting life is exciting and rewarding."
—Michael Hooper

The Daily Nebraskan is accepting applications for the following fall positions:

- | | | |
|-------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------------|
| * NEWS EDITOR | * EDITORIAL COLUMNISTS | * ASST. PHOTO CHIEF |
| * SPORTS EDITOR | * COPY DESK CHIEF | * DEPTH/SOWER EDITOR |
| * NIGHT NEWS EDITOR | * ASSOCIATE NEWS EDITORS | * EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS |
| * SUPPLEMENTS EDITOR | * ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR | * FIRST DOWN EDITOR |
| * ART/GRAPHICS DIRECTOR | * SENIOR REPORTERS | |
| * ASST. ART DIRECTOR | * PHOTO CHIEF | |

Applications available at the Daily Nebraskan, Rm. 34 Neb. Union
Applications must be returned by noon Friday, April 17. All applicants must be UNL students.

Daily Nebraskan
ROOM 34 NEBRASKA UNION

UNL does not discriminate in its academic, admissions or employment programs and abides by all federal regulations pertaining to the same.

Imelda Marcos, have we got a shoe for you.

The K-436 for women.
The K-426 for men.

And for you too, Ferdinand.

You can replace a closet full of shoes with a single pair of Kaepa athletic shoes, because a Kaepa can change its colors.

Just snap out the colored logos, and snap in new colors. We have dozens—from Auntie Red to Manila Vanilla.

So you can match your clothes, your school colors, or your mood.

With a fraction of the money you save by not buying 12,000 pairs of shoes, you can buy Ferdinand a pair of Kaepa shoes that change colors, too.

And since living well is the best revenge, Imelda, Kaepa shoes have two moving parts, each with its own separate lace. This design does for your foot what independent suspension did for your stretch Mercedes.

So you two trend-setters can feel perfectly comfortable while making a perfect fashion statement.

Which is maybe the only statement you and Ferdinand should make for a while, Imelda.

The K-450 for women.
The K-440 for men.

Kaepa. Say "Kay-pa"

Athlete's Foot
Lawlor's
Famous Footwear
Richman Goordman

The Steinhart Lecture Series
presents

Dr. Kenneth H. Cooper
M.D., M.P.H.

The Aerobics Way To Emotional Balance

Studies now show that aerobic exercise can indeed have a beneficial effect on a person's emotional and psychological balance.

Wednesday, April 15 7:30 P.M.
NE Center for Continuing Studies
33rd & Holdrege

FREE ADMISSION