Fulbright applicants should plan now for September deadline

Although the Sept. 30 deadline may seem distant, students who want to apply for Fulbright Scholarships should start planning now, said the director of international studies.

Richard Lonsdale, also a UNL geography professor, said, "The purpose of the Fulbright program is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge and skills."

Most grants are awarded for an academic year and provide round-trip transportation, language or orientation courses, if appropriate, tuition, books, and room and board maintenance.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens, have a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the date of the grant, and, in most cases, be proficient in the host country's language.

Creative and performing artists are not required to have a bachelor's degree, but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience.

Because of the competitive nature of the grants, applicants must have a 3.5 grade point average, a clearly defined program of proposed course work or research abroad and some knowledge of the university they propose to attend, Lonsdale said.

Candidates speak on issues

Duds 'n' Suds request for a liquor license.

Bill Hoffman, 60, is an architect-engineer. Hoffman is an incumbent who has served for four years. He said his strengths include listening and responding to neighborhood and city problems. He said he questions UNL's need to buy land in the Malone area east City Campus.

Block 35: He voted against the city's efforts to turn the block into a parking lot.

"Block 35 should not be purchased or condemned until there is a signed contract," Hoffman said.

Duds 'n' Suds: He voted against the request for a liquor license.

"That issue has already been put to bed," he said.

Southwest District

Jo Gutsell, 40, is co-owner of Three J's Antiques and Collectibles. She said her platform includes no increase in property taxes and redevelopment downtown and in southwest Lincoln. This is her first try at a City Council seat.

Block 35: "The (businesses) cannot possibly relocate on the offer the city first gave them," she said. She suggested tearing down the businesses that are willing to sell and building a multistoried garage over the businesses unwilling to sell.

Dud 'n' Suds: She had no comment.

Charles G. Nelson, 50 is an architect. Nelson said his main interest in the next four years is downtown redevelopment. He has never run for political office.

Block 35: "I've been a customer of Arturo's ever since he's been on that corner," Nelson said.

Duds 'n' Suds: He said he had not heard of the business but said the council's denial of a license "sounds like a good denial."

At large

J. Gates Minnick, 55, is president of DuTeau Chevrolet. He said his main interest is serving the community to meet its needs. Minnick was appointed to this City Council seat last year and is running in the election for the first time.

Block 35: He said businesses should be left intact until a contract is signed with a developer, although delapidated buildings on two-thirds of the block should be cleared and used for parking.

Duds 'n' Suds: "Great idea, but we have plenty of liquor licenses in Lincoln," he said. "There are none in the convenience stores or grocery stores, so I don't see why we need one in this kind of operation."

Larry B. Gulbranson, 34, is owner and operator of the All Seasons Shooting Range. He said more real jobs are needed — "no more $3 an-hour hamburger flippers."

Block 35: "It's the wrong approach to tear it down for parking," Gulbranson said. "Take down the ones west of the alley and put a parking garage over the top. There are other alternatives to taking a viable business and throwing them out on the street."

Duds 'n' Suds: "I rather enjoy a beer myself, but not in a laundromat," he said.
