

Consistency helps gymnasts

By Lori Griffin
Staff Reporter

Fewer falls and more consistent performances helped the Nebraska women's gymnastics team score its highest point total of the season on its way to defeating Northern Colorado 185.90-175.10 Saturday night at the Bob Devaney Sports Center.

Nebraska's women's gymnastics coach Rick Walton said he was pleased with the meet's outcome even though the Cornhuskers could have scored 188 points if they hadn't fallen during the balance beam and floor exercise competitions.

Walton said Nebraska showed the type of consistency it needs if it is to succeed during the Midwest Regional competition April 9 at Norman, Okla. He said the key to Nebraska's success was that the Huskers went out and tried to make things happen.

Walton said a change in the lineup also benefited Nebraska. He said he rested freshman Lisa McCrady, who has been suffering from shin splints, in the all-around competition. Walton said the move paid off, as Nebraska's Jeaneane Smith, Michele Bryant and Crystal Savage swept the competition.

Northern Colorado women's gymnastics coach Brian Muenz said his squad also showed consistency even though it was defeated by more than 10 points. He said he was proud of the Bears because they performed up to his expectations.

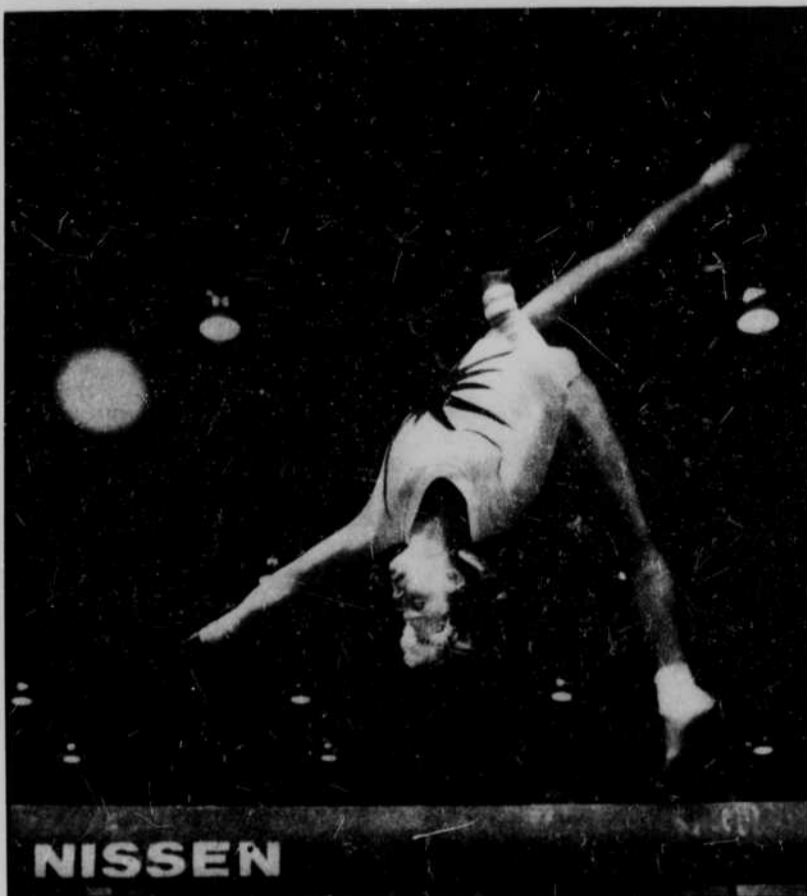

Muenz said he was impressed by Nebraska's performance.

"I think Nebraska is an excellent team," Muenz said. "I think they are a lot better than what they are standing in the rankings right now. But I think it is going to show up in regionals. They are going to show how strong they are."

Nebraska overcame two falls on the balance beam and two subsequent scores of 8.65 and 9.0 by relying on a 9.45 score by Tami Bair. Smith defeated Bryant, Mary Ocel and Bair to win the vault with a 9.5, and Bryant defeated Smith, Burdette and Northern Colorado's Karin Burget to win the uneven bars competition with a 9.45 score.

Ocel then won the floor exercise with a 9.6, the highest score of the competition. Smith and Bair tied for second with 9.5 and Bryant finished third with 9.3.

Nebraska's next meet is Friday in Tuscon, Ariz., facing Arizona, Utah State and Cal State Fullerton.

run on Schalk's wild pitch.

Left-handed-hitting designated hitter Joe Federico continued Nebraska's onslaught in the fourth inning by connecting on a one-out, solo home run 350 feet over the left-field fence. The home run was his second of the season.

Northern Colorado scored its only run when designated hitter Joe Mastroni connected on a sixth-inning solo home run off Phil Goguen.

Husker pitcher Joel Sealer earned his second victory against no defeats by pitching three innings and allowing no runs on one hit. He struck out four. Goguen worked the fourth through sixth innings, and Dale Kistaitis pitched the second. The three combined on a two-hitter.

Colletti, now 1-1, got the loss.

Sanders said the Huskers, rated No. 28 in the Collegiate Baseball-ESPN national rankings, have played well during their early-season win streak.

"We've won 10 games we should win, and that's a positive," he said. "It's a positive. We're beating the teams the way we should and getting a lot of players involved."
