This could happen to YOU Geoff McMurtry applied at the DAILY NEBRASKAN as a shy, naive, young farm boy just out of high school. At the Daily Nebraskan, Geoff soon learned about alcohol, sleepless nights, STDs and organized crime. This summer, while your carefree friends are idly wasting their lives tanning and playing in the surf, you could be snooping on people, learning about the private lives of people you used to read about, and gaining priceless career experience at the same time. In just a few short summer months you could learn what it's like to look and act like Geoff and most of the other Daily Nebraskan staff members. Just apply for summer Applications for senior editors, reporters, artists, photographers, and copy editors are available at the Daily Nebraskan, 34 Nebraska Union, and must be turned in by noon Friday, April 1. Sign up for interview time when returning application. (Applicants must be UNL students during either this semester, summer, or next fall.) UNL does not discriminate in its academic, admissions or employment programs and abides by all federal regulations pertaining to same.

positions between March 28 and April 1 and you too, like that super-hip chemical wasteland Geoff, could learn what it's like to feel the staggering weight of your own fame.
