Najib offers to withdraw from Pakistan border

KABUL, Afghanistan — President Najib on Monday offered to withdraw Afghan troops from their posts near the Pakistani border if anti-communist guerrillas and Pakistan agree to do the same.

"We are ready to create a non-military line" between Afghanistan and Pakistan, Najib said at the opening of celebrations marking the 10th anniversary of the Afghan revolution that installed a Soviet-backed government.

Najib told an assembly of three small parties loyal to his government that such a withdrawal would allow the estimated 3 million Afghan refugees in Pakistan to return home.

Minorities right to sue may be limited by vote

WASHINGTON — A deeply split Supreme Court said Monday it will consider throwing out a key civil rights decision used to fight racial discrimination.

By a 5-4 vote, the justices took the unusual step of expanding the scope of a North Carolina racial-harassment case to consider limiting the ability of minorities to sue private citizens for monetary damages.

Justice John Paul Stevens, in a sharply worded dissent, said minority groups may feel betrayed by the court's willingness to consider discarding an important civil rights precedent.

He was joined by Justices William J. Brennan, Harry A. Blackmun and Thurgood Marshall.

Autoworker sentenced to death

JERUSALEM — A judge sentenced John Demjanjuk on Monday to die for Nazi war crimes and said the retired Ohio autoworker personally killed tens of thousands of people as the sadistic death camp guard "Ivan the Terrible."

Hundreds of spectators jumped to their feet and applauded. Some shouted "Bravo!" and others "Death! Death!" Survivors of the Holocaust, in which 6 million Jews were killed, cried and embraced each other.

Judge Zvi Tal said Demjanjuk's crimes at the Treblinka death camp in Nazi-occupied Poland could "never be forgiven by the hearts of men or be obliterated from memory. . . . The blood of the victims still cries out to us."

"Ivan the Terrible" operated the gas chambers at Treblinka, where 850,000 Jews were killed in 1942-43. Demjanjuk was convicted last week.

The judge, who was born in Poland and lost his parents in the Holocaust, said Demjanjuk "served as an arch henchman who with his own hands killed tens of thousands of human beings. He humiliated and degraded his victims."

Minutes before the sentence was read, Demjanjuk shouted in Hebrew: "I'm an innocent man!"

John Demjanjuk Jr., the defendant's 22-year-old son, sobbed silently. He said the family had expected a death sentence and would appeal within days.

"This amounts to nothing more than the judicial murder of an innocent man," he said.

Clarification

In "Administrators, student criticize joke issue," (DN April 21) Doug Engh was reported to have said he was talking to administrators about getting the Daily Nebraskan removed from its office in the Nebraska Union. Engh later told the DN that he made the entire story up.

In the DN (April 25) Lisa Hansen and Letha Vican's names were misspelled in a cutline.
