

Scores detained in May Day protests in Poland

WARSAW, Poland — Police clashed with demonstrators around the country Sunday and bloody rock-throwing matches broke out as thousands of people in at least 15 cities heeded Solidarity's call for a national "day of protest" on May Day. Government and opposition reports said more than 100 people were detained in protests that climaxed a week of strikes, the worst labor unrest in Poland since the 1981 crackdown.

There were scattered reports of injuries. Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski took a tough line on wage demands during May Day ceremonies in Warsaw. A tense strike was in its sixth day at the Lenin steel mill in Nowa Huta outside Krakow. About 800 strikers gathered for a Mass around a makeshift altar with a homemade cross in the pressing department where the job action began.

Thirty to 50 people outside the gates were detained when they tried to stage a sympathy march to the plant, which was ringed with platoons of helmeted riot police. Earlier, about 3,000 people marched a half-mile from a church in Nowa Huta toward the plant. Police ordered them to disperse. Organizers say about 16,000 workers are on strike at the plant, demanding recognition of their union rights and an immediate 50 percent raise on the average salary of $105 a month. Solidarity chairman Lech Walesa, speaking outside St. Brygida's Roman Catholic Church in Gdansk, told about 6,000 supporters that the time had come for them to take a stand in support of the striking steel workers. "I demand from you solidarity with Nowa Huta tomorrow, in your shipyards, in your ports and in your factories. I want it to be effective. Show me tomorrow what you can do," he declared. Following the Mass and rally in Gdansk, about 500 young militants tried to march through the city. They were attacked from two directions by police swinging clubs, and the city shook with the sound of a police percussion grenade. Solidarity, the only independent labor union movement in the Soviet bloc, was created in Gdansk in 1980 during nationwide strikes. It was suppressed, then outlawed, after martial law was declared in December 1981.

Gangs suppressed in Omaha

OMAHA — The head of the Omaha Police Department's narcotics unit said his force is succeeding in keeping two Los Angeles-based drug gangs from staking a turf in the city. "Our enforcement efforts have been based on trying to take them out permanently by sending them to prison," Lt. Tim Dunning said. Dunning said police have arrested at least two dozen people identified as gang members or their associates since last year. Officers first learned of the presence of the two West Coast gangs — the Crips and the Bloods — in February 1987. As of April 1, detectives had identified 15 Bloods members and 18 Crips members who have been in Omaha sometime during the past 14 months, Dunning said. Police Chief Robert Wadman said he thinks the gang situation in Omaha is under control thanks to help from a number of organizations, including the Omaha Housing Authority, Omaha School District and Black Ministerial Alliance. Dunning said the gangs apparently were lured to Omaha because of the potential for big drug profits in an open cocaine market as yet uncontrolled by an organized group.
