

Coach gives tennis team 8.5 rating

By Lori Griffin
Staff Reporter

Nebraska men's tennis coach Kerry McDermott gave the Cornhuskers an 8.5 rating on a 10-point scale after their performance in the finals of the Husker Invitational Saturday and Sunday at Woods Park.

The Huskers had five singles and two doubles teams in the final competition. Nebraska won two of the five singles matches but McDermott said he thought Nebraska could win all five. No team scores were kept in the meet.

Southwest Missouri State's Hakan Svensson defeated Steven Jung at the No. 1 singles position. Svensson won the match 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

McDermott said he was impressed with Jung's performance in the finals.

"Steven had a great singles match," McDermott said. "He still lost but he tried to win with a change in his game."

"He was down 1-4 and came back and lost 7-5 in the third set. He played a great match, I wasn't disappointed in his play. I was really more excited for him because he came back and is trying to improve."

Robert Sjolholm defeated Hakan Olsson of Tyler (Tex.) Junior College 6-4, 6-0 in the finals of the No. 2 singles competition.

Stuart Jung, Steven's twin brother, was defeated in the finals of the No. 3 singles competition by Thomas Adler of Tyler Junior College. Stuart was defeated in three sets 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

In No. 4 singles competition, Nebraska's Ken Feuer defeated Torin Schultz of Colorado University 6-1, 6-4.

Mike Martinez of Tyler Junior College defeated Nebraska's Pat Carson, 6-2, 7-5, in the finals of the No. 6 singles competition.

Husker freshman Troy Larsen was defeated at No. 7 singles by Tom Nilsson of Tyler Junior College, 6-0, 6-3.

Nebraska received a blow in the doubles competition when the No. 1 team of Jung and Jung defaulted in their first doubles match on Saturday.

The Jungs also had to default in the third set Sunday because Steven, who had been ill throughout the tournament, suffered leg cramps, which hampered his performance, McDermott said.

McDermott said he does not foresee any problems with the performance of Steven Jung in the future.

"We are going to give him a day of rest so he can get his body repaired," McDermott said.

In doubles competition, the No. 2 team of Robert Sjolholm and H.C. Taylor were defeated in three sets by Rob Littlefield and Gary Jones of Southwest Baptist University 3-6, 6-2, 7-6.

Nebraska's No. 3 doubles team of Pat Carson and Ken Feuer defeated Rod Zerni and Richard Hanson of Southwest Missouri State 5-7, 7-5, 7-6.

Nebraska will compete in the ITCA tournament next weekend at Wichita, Kan.

NU bowlers seeking title

By Bryan Thomas
Staff Reporter

In terms of ability, this year's Nebraska men's bowling team is as good as any team in the country, Cornhusker bowling coach Bill Straub said.

The men's team, which was ranked No. 2 in the nation last season, lost only one starter and has picked up four outstanding recruits, according to Straub.

Straub said this season's team should be stronger than last year's.

"Expectations are as high as the ceiling," Straub said.

Senior Mike Shady, a two-time All-America selection, said this year's team is the best he has seen during his four years at Nebraska.

"I think we have the makings to win the national championship," Shady said. The men's toughest competition in capturing the title will be Wichita State, he said.

The goal of the women's team is to finish in the top 20 this year, Straub said.

Straub said the Nebraska women also had a good recruiting year. He said the Huskers signed three excellent in-state recruits.

The recruits include freshman Kim Berke from Beatrice, Lori Lux from York and Jennifer Wilson from Lincoln. Michelle Kelley, a sophomore transfer from Central Missouri State University, will also contribute to the Huskers' success, Straub said.

Both teams will open their seasons at the Collegiate Match Play Open in Denver, Colo., Oct. 15 and 16.

Mental breakdown hurts Huskers

good things but I don't think any of us are satisfied.

"We won which is the underlying factor, but we didn't look very good. I don't know what happened — we weren't flat and the effort was there."

Maverick coach Mary Yori expressed a different sentiment even though her team fell to 1-6.

"I was very happy with the way we played," Yori said. "Besides one or two innings in that first game, I thought we really competed. I felt pretty pleased with the way our kids came out, played hard and battled."

The Huskers took a 2-0 lead in the first game. Frese's first RBI came in the opening inning when her single scored Jane Kremer. Ruth Chatwin scored on a hit by Misti Guenther and a Maverick error.

In the 3rd inning, Michelle Mason hit a single and advanced to second on a single by Guenther. Katy Wolda's sacrifice moved Mason to third and she scored on Jennifer Bialias' sacrifice.

UNO scored in the 6th inning when Stacy Kmiciek reached first base on a Husker error and advanced to second when Beth Wedge walked. A single by Lisa Koziol scored Kmiciek and another Husker error scored Wedge.

In the bottom of the 6th, the Huskers loaded the bases when Jill Rishel hit a two-out double, Kremer singled and Chatwin was walked. A single by Frese scored Rishel, a Maverick error off a Mason hit scored Kremer and a single by Guenther scored Chatwin and Frese. Nebraska then held UNO scoreless in the top of the seventh inning to preserve the 7-2 victory.

In the second game, Kristin Davidson was walked and advanced to second base on a Maverick error. UNO scored in the top of the 3rd inning when Carol Bahan singled and advanced to second on a Husker error. A sacrifice by Sharon Krebs moved Bahan to third and scored on Sherri Novak's single.

Wolforth and Frese said the Huskers had a mental breakdown which let UNO get back into the game.

"As soon as we get ahead of a team, we sit on that and relax and feel comfortable," Frese said. "Then pretty soon the other team starts creeping back and we let that happen. If we are going to contend in the top 10 or five, we're going to have to go all out. We can't stop with one run or two runs. We have to keep pounding and beat teams like this 11-0 or 15-0."

The Huskers scored in the bottom of the 3rd when Kremer singled and designated runner Amy Killman stole second. A single by Chatwin scored Killman to give Nebraska a 3-1 lead.

Amy Phalen scored for UNO in the 6th when she reached first on a Husker error, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Kmiciek's single.

Nebraska's final run came in the bottom of the sixth when Mason reached first on a Maverick error, stole second on a wild pitch, moved to third on Marie Bowie's sacrifice and scored on Guenther's single to give the Huskers the 4-2 decision.

Wolforth said the post-game activities were indicative of the way the games were played.

"UNO is over there and they got swept and they're ecstatic," Wolforth said. "They went 0-2 and we went 2-0. We got our butts chewed and they're doing cartwheels."
