accomplished."

Karnes thanked his family and Nebraska Gov. Kay Orr, saying that "family really is what Dave Karnes is all about."

Karnes spent about 15 minutes kneeling on the stage, reaching out to shake hands and thank supporters. Karnes then went to Bob Kerrey's campaign rally at the Peony Park Ballroom.

The two men met in a closed-door meeting although one television station crew taped the meeting.

Karnes told Kerrey he wanted to make the transition to the Senate "as easy as possible."

"You did a great campaign, a great job," Karnes said to Kerrey.

Kerrey said following the meeting with Karnes, "That was a very class act . . . very moving."

State Sen. Ernie Chambers, the New Alliance candidate, had 1 percent of the votes, or 8,943 votes, in the U.S. Senate race with 95 percent of precincts reporting.

Sen. Dave Karnes speaks to supporters at the Omaha Holiday Inn Central Tuesday night as his wife, Liz, looks on.

Jarding comments:

helped him win the election.

"I asked for a lot and you responded with more than a 100 percent effort," Kerrey said.

Kerrey said 5,000 to 6,000 volunteers were involved in his campaign.

During the speech, several people shouted "We love you Bob" and "Kerrey for president."

Standing with a group of friends after his father's speech, Benjamin Kerrey said, "My father may not have thought so, but I knew from the beginning that he was going to win."

Benjamin said the election has created a lot of pressure, but he said it hasn't affected him or his father. He said he and his sister have always supported their father's political interests.

Corky Jones, who lost the race for the House of Representatives to Republican Doug Bereuter, said he thinks Kerrey was a good governor and statesman. He said Kerrey appealed to the young people because of his age.

Jones said Kerrey is a very well-known person, not only in the state of Nebraska.

There is a "very good chance" that Kerrey could run for president in the future, he said.

Steve Jarding, Kerrey's public relations officer, said hundreds of volunteers helped Kerrey win the election.

Jarding said the Kerrey campaign was not affected by "mudslinging" in this campaign.

"We tried to stay above this," he said. "We responded with ads that belittled the negative ads and I think the voter turnout proved that it worked."

Kerrey said the campaign got "a little nasty," but felt his campaign was not "too nasty."

produce our food," Kerrey said. "This one is for you."

Kerrey said his campaign also represented small business workers, teachers and blacks, Hispanics and native Americans of the state.

"This campaign is for you," Kerrey said. "This campaign is about the world and what we have to do in it."

With his son and daughter standing by his side and several family members standing behind him, Kerrey thanked the volunteers that tain the regent seat.

Robinson said she intends to make faculty salaries top priority during the next term.

Robinson said she thinks it's important for the regents to work to advance research departments and hire English speaking professors for students.

"I would like to enhance the steps taken in making sure students have faculty members who speak English clearly," Robinson said.

With 100 percent of precincts reporting in District 8, current board chairman James Moylan of Omaha was losing to Rosemary Skrupa with a vote of 22,348, or 46 percent to 26,125, or 54 percent. Official results will be announced when absentee ballots are counted later this week.

Moylan, who has served as a regent for 18 years, said Skrupa should be congratulated for running a "positive campaign."

He said if Skrupa wins, the position will be filled by a "capable regent."

Skrupa could not be reached for comment.

With 73 percent of the District 4 vote counted, incumbent Nancy Hoch had 55 percent of the vote to 45 percent for Robert Prokop.

Neither Hoch nor Prokop could be reached for comment.
